RAILWAY BRIDGE BURNED

Anti-Draft Organization Said to Be Active in Seminole County.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Aug. 2.—Appeals for assistance in quelling the mob of alleged draft resisters formed in Seminole County yesterday were received by Gov. Williams at 2 o'clock this afternoon from county officials at Wewoka. The Governor immediately went into conference with Adjutant-General Earp and the two were closeted at 2:15 o'clock with a personal representative of the Governor, who was sent to Seminole County yesterday afternoon to investigate conditions.

World Send Civilians.
This representative, it was said, at the Governor's office, recommended the formation of a civilian company of about 50 men familiar with the rough, heavily timbered section in which the band is operating. The company he recommended should be heavily armed and instructed to shoot to kill.

The Adjutant-General is reluctant to use national guardsmen to suppress the disturbance but it was indicated that in case the situation becomes serious he may be compelled to order troops not already mustered in the federal service, into the affected territory.

Trouble started last yesterday afternoon when Sheriff Frank Grall and Deputy Cross attempted to arrest alleged members of the Working Class Union, which is said to have a membership of between 300 and 400 in Seminole, Pontotoc and Hughes counties. Deputy Cross was painfully, but not seriously, hurt.

The band of 30 alleged draft resisters, who are believed to have shot Deputy Sheriff Cross near Wewoka yesterday last night to have fired or dynamited the bridge crossing the South Canadian River between Francis and Ada, are reported to have established themselves in the brush south of Sasakawa to resist attack.

Poses Hunt Mob.
Poses have started from Konowa, Francis and Ada to give battle to the mob.

All with communication on both sides of Francis was cut. Traffic on the Francis Railroad was delayed about 10 hours.

An investigation of the trouble in Seminole County is said to have revealed the existence of chaotic conditions since the burning of the draft law. Many farmers have abandoned their crops, turned their stock into the wild and killed their livestock for food.
Holders of mortgages on stock and crops objected and Sheriff Grall was conducting an investigation when he was ambushed by the mob.

Many arrests of alleged members of the Working Class Union, industrial Workers of the World and the "Jones Family," a smaller organization, already have been made in the district.

A quantity of dynamite was exploded on the Missouri Pacific bridge over the Seminole River, near Gore, Ok., 100 miles west of Seminole County. The bridge was not materially damaged, however.
Four suspects have been arrested and placed in jail at Sallisaw.

Another report from Ada stated that the men are proceeding to Sasakwa to storm hardware stores and seize guns and ammunition. Members of the band are heavily armed and are said to be forcing innocent boys and men to go with them.

Two men escaped from the mob last night, seeking protection of officers at Ada. The men refused to give their names, saying they would be killed if they returned to their homes. They had been forced to accompany the men, they told the officers.

According to their story, it is the plan of the organizers to burn all railroad bridges in this section of the country and draft sufficient men into their organization to enable them to offer organized resistance to the enforcement of the selective service.

It May Take 4 Registrants to Produce One Soldier

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The cost of drafting America's first great national army—from registration to enrollment—was placed by Secretary Baker today at $8,600,480 in his estimate to Congress.

This amount includes all overhead expense of registration, examination and selection. It is based on registration of 10,000,000, examination of approximately 5,000,000 and enrollment of 1,187,000.
"On a tentative estimate" that the generous system of exemptions and discharges will result in a net of 1,187,000 men, Secretary Baker said, "it is apparent that the system must be capable of examining 5,000,000 men during the year. For this task the organization includes a personnel of more than 18,000 persons."

Should the Secretary's estimate prove correct, it will be necessary to examine four times the quota desired, instead of twice that number, as is the present plan.

it alleged, he had cursed the Government and damned the United States flag.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Eight naval gun-steamer Motano was sunk by a submarine, July 31. Sixteen members of the crew also perished.

The Motano was of 2700 tons gross.
It was announced from London on Aug.

BELLEVILLE CUTS COMPULSORY
STUDY OF GERMAN TO 4 YEARS

Heretofore Pupils in High Schools Starting Language Had to Continue Eight Years.

The Belleville Board of Education, taking cognizance of a 75 per cent decrease in recent years in the number of pupils who desire to study the German language, has made the study of German elective after the four years required of each student.

Heretofore any pupil starting the study of German in the first grade was required to continue the study for eight years. Under the new plan a pupil, after studying German for four years, can drop it in the fifth grade—boys taking manual training instead, and girls taking sewing and darning.

LONDON WILL SEE U. S. TROOPS

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Not many days hence London can give a concrete welcome to the American army, according to the Express, which says that a body of American troops will pass through the streets of the metropolis, the first time since the landing of the first contingent of troops of a foreign nation have marched through an English city bearing arms and carrying a foreign flag.

ULTIMATUM SENT TO SERBIA WENT TO BERLIN FIRSTZimmermann Admits Having Austrian Note 14 Hours Before It Reached Belgrade.

WASHINGTON GETS FACTS

Revelations Concerning Crown Council at Potsdam Charged to Reichstag Member.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Germany had possession of Austria's ultimatum to Serbia 14 hours before it was delivered to Belgrade, according to positive information which has reached officials here and which was made public today for the first time.

It was stated that former Foreign Secretary Zimmermann admitted this himself, when pressed closely as to Germany's foreknowledge of the action of her ally which precipitated the European war.

Germany has maintained consistently in all her public documents that she was not consulting with Austria as to the ultimatum which practically denied Serbia's independence and that she did not even have knowledge of the step.

Made "Accomplice" of Austria.
Foreign Secretary Zimmermann's admission, however, is interpreted here to show that Germany had full knowledge of the note in time to stop action on it if she felt it essential. Her inaction, however, is felt to have proved her an accomplice of Austria, whom she had already told she would support in any decision she might make.

For a considerable time, it was stated, Zimmermann maintained Germany had known nothing at all about the ultimatum, but when certain information and facts were presented, he admitted that he had the text for 14 hours before its delivery.

This fact fits in very closely with the recent statements, first advanced by Deputy Cohn in the Reichstag and since adopted by the allied Governments, that German and Austrian leaders held a war council at Potsdam on July 5, in which it was practically decided to plunge Europe into conflict. The interpretation placed on this council has been that Germany had full knowledge of all Austria's plans, and stood unreservedly behind her.

German has repeatedly denied the holding of such a conference.

Deputy Accused of Telling About German Crown Council.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 3.—The Deutsche Tages Zeitung challenges the German Government to prosecute Dr. Cohn, Social member of the Reichstag, for his alleged revelations regarding the Crown Council held at Potsdam, July 5, 1914.
The newspaper says it knows the revelations published in the London Times came from Stockholm direct and from the German independent Socialists and it offers to give the fullest evidence in case the Government desires to court-martial Deputy Cohn.

The London Times asserted that a "leak" was made in the presence of Imperial William at Potsdam July 5, 1914, in which the political and military personages in Germany and Austria-Hungary took part when a plan was proposed to let loose the war.

The Wolf Bureau of Berlin on Aug. 1 said it had been official authorized to declare that the statement was a pure invention. The news agency said the Times had supported its statement.
The statements, it was added, were denied in committee by the German Government.

POST-DISPATCH PROBABLY WILL MOVE SUNDAY, AUG. 12

Due Notice of Date of Transfer From Old Building to New Will Be Published.

The Post-Dispatch expected to move into a new building at Twelfth and Olive streets on Sunday, Aug. 5, but has been obliged to postpone moving until a later date. Due notice of the date of moving will be published.

It has been found that additional time is required for necessary testing of new equipment which is being installed, and it is for this reason that the change in date has been made. It is probable, however, that the transfer from the old building to the new will be completed on Aug. 12.

STATE OF SIEGE IS DECLARED FOR DISTRICT AROUND ATHENS

volved, Says Dispatch.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—A state of siege has been declared in the whole of the department of Attica, including Athens and Piræus, according to a dispatch from Athens to the Exchange Telegraph Co.

The Department of Boeotia, adjoining Attica on the north, also was placed under martial law.

WOMAN GIVES HER "BELOVED HUSBAND" TO THE ARMY

Letter to Board Says She Supports Himself, but Understands He Is Going to Claim Exemption.

Chairman Russell Richardson of the Fifteenth Ward Exemption Board, whose headquarters are in the Lafayette Park police substation, received the following letter this morning:

"Dear Sir:
"I understand that my beloved husband is going to claim exemption on the ground that he is supporting me.
He is not supporting me. I am able to support myself. I have done so in the past and am well able to support myself in the future. I want to do my bit so I will give my beloved husband to the army."
Chairman Richardson did not make the names public.

FIRST DRAFT RETURNS SHOW
ONE FOURTH PHYSICALLY UNFIT

Percentage So Far Is Practically the Same as That Which Obtained in the Civil War.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Early and scattering reports from local boards do not indicate any decrease in physical exemptions from the army draft over the average of 25.7, established in 1863.
Provost Marshal-General Crowder said today that while no definite conclusion could be reached as yet, there was good reason to believe, on the basis of first returns from local boards, that there would be no substantial increase in the proportion of those found physically unfit.

Results of the next steps in the selection procedure, the weeding out of men with dependent families, also are not clear. It may be that further supplemental rulings will be necessary to give the local boards the general policies to be pursued to reach a decision in each case.

DOCTOR ENDS LIFE IN FEAR OF DRAFT, FOUND TO BE A WOMAN

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 3.—Authorities believe that the army draft examination just beginning here was the cause of the suicide of "Dr. Samuel Ackerman," whose body, found yesterday, was discovered by an undertaker to be that of a woman.

Detectives found that "Dr. Ackerman," 28, failed to register. Arrest and physical examination would have revealed the sex secret, maintained for many years. The body was found floating in the Maumee River yesterday.

Several years ago, posing as a man, Ackerman married. The wife soon obtained a divorce.

YONKERS (N. Y.) HAS FIRST DISTRICT TO FILL DRAFT QUOTA

Thirty-Five Men Obtained From 140 Names—52 Exemptions Were Granted.

YONKERS, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Yonkers claims to be the first city with a draft district that has filled its quota.

The second district in the Yonkers filled its quota of 35 men last night.
The number was obtained from 140 names. Fifty per cent of the men accepted are American born. Fifty-two exemptions were granted.

DRAFTED FILIPINO IS READY

Asked if He'll Claim Exemption, He Says "No I'm an American."

Rafino Adams, 25 years old, a Filipino, who was registered in the Fifth Ward, presented himself for examination at the first district this morning, carrying an American flag.

Asked if he was going to claim exemption he said: "No I'm an American."
Adams' only fear, he said, was that the Germans would be whipped before he got over there and had a chance to fight them. He works in a steel foundry at Madison.

4 DRAFT BOARDS
ON DUTY READY
TO EXAMINE MENFifth, Seventh and Ninth Ward Bodies Kept Busy on National Army Work.

CHARACTER OF TESTS

Ears and Eyes, as Well as Nose and Throat, Receive Careful Attention.

Four ward draft boards, those of the Seventh, Ninth, Fifth and Twenty-first wards, were on duty today, in readiness to examine men summoned to the first draft for the National army. In the Fifth, Seventh and Ninth wards the boards were kept busy in examining men. In the Twenty-first, the board, which had the distinction of examining the first man yesterday afternoon, had no more applicants for examination this morning. The first men on its list are not required to appear before Monday.
Dr. D. E. Schmalhorst of the First Ward Exemption Board announced this morning that he will be ready tomorrow afternoon to examine men who wish to appear at that time at 823 North Broadway. The first examination in this ward had been set for Monday morning, but the board learned it did not have to wait the full five days to begin, in case men appeared to be examined earlier.

Up to 4:15 o'clock this afternoon, including yesterday's work, the boards in the four wards had examined 84 men. Of these 38 were accepted in the physical test, 46 were rejected and one case was deferred. Of those passed in the physical examination, 29 claimed exemption, most of them because of dependents and nine were ready to serve.
The Fifth Ward board, with headquarters in room 123, Hotel Jefferson, was kept busy with applicants this morning.
The men were called, as nearly as possible, in the order in which they had been summoned to appear.

What the Test Is.
The physical tests were given by Drs.
William Bechtel and H. B. Beale to two men at a time, and each pair of tests took 15 to 20 minutes.

The men were taken into a large room, adjoining the one in which the board has its clerical headquarters, were ordered to remove all their clothing and were tested by the usual thumping and listening, as to the condition of their hearts and lungs.

Tests for diseases of the eyes, nose and throat were then given, and these were followed by tests of vision and hearing. The men were required to read letters at different distances, with either eye, and to hear whispered words, at a certain distance, with either ear.

The agility of the men was then tested, and they were required to run across the room, to hop and jump, to kneel, stoop and bend various joints.
Their weight and height were recorded by a scale to which a measuring rod was attached.

After the physical tests were finished, the men put on their clothes, and went before the board in the other room. Those who were rejected by the physicians were usually told of that fact at once. Those whom the physicians passed were asked whether they wished to claim exemption.

Enrolled for the Army.
Those who did not wish to claim exemption are enrolled as members of the army. Those who have claims for exemption are asked to specify the grounds of the claim—whether dependents, lack of naturalization, minister or ministerial student, and blanks of the different kinds,

Joseph Ignatius Finnegan, manager of the pictureland department of the St. Louis Times, told a Post-Dispatch reporter today the "inside story" of the troubles of his department which led to the filing of a suit by Harry H. Hubbell of 4665 Madison avenue, against the Times to collect $185 also, and that last night he was in the contemplation of withdrawing the picture of "Camp Jackson."

If a girl rehearsed 20 minutes each day, it would have taken her 24 days to put in one day's work.

"We sent three girls to Chicago to get into the Esplanade studio. I wish you could see the telegrams they sent me roaring about the reception they got. They couldn't get into the Esplanade's. I barely escaped an other half pulling when they got back to St. Louis."

"These 18 girls and 500 others worked for the Times four months in a subscription contest. I understand that they got more than $13,000 worth of subscriptions. They were certainly a lot of girls. Robert Schmidt, a costume maker for the Camp Jackson picture, is also a very angry man."

Says Hubbell Deserves Money. Hubbell is entitled to all that he is suing for. He was my stage manager, and he is a good one. His impersonation of Gen. Franz Sigel, who was a Federal Captain at the time of the capture of Camp Jackson, was nothing less than wonderful. He is exactly the same size as Sigel, his make-up was so perfect that his photograph cannot be distinguished from that of Sigel himself. "I have got to hand it to him in another respect. He employed my own attorney, 'King' Finnegan, the old football player, to file the suit against the Times. When I am put on the stand as a witness, probably for the defendant, I shall have to submit to an examination by my own attorney. I see no way out of further troubles unless I join the army and duck for the trenches in Europe."

"My male cast was a wonder. In addition to Hubbell, Edward Meinhardt, a South St. Louis actor, was employed to impersonate Captain, afterwards General, Nathaniel Lyon, who was killed at the battle of Wilson's Creek. Charles McCann, a real estate dealer, was Capt. Basil Duke, with whom the heroine of the play was desperately in love."

"C. L. Clutenden was Col. Hart of the Confederate camp, and George Karg was Capt. Hart, son of the Colonel. Despite the imperfections of the female cast, my fortune would have been made if that picture had been completed. It is a picture that would have been good for all time."

Lectures on Quantrell. "My Quantrell picture has been showing four years, and it is still a fine money maker. I have traveled with it all over the United States, lecturing on Quantrell while it was being produced. "I am going over to the Times office and hand in my resignation as manager of the pictureland department. That is no sort of a job for a nervous man. I have had too many narrow escapes. I think I should be safer in the trenches."

TEUTONS CAPTURE CZERNOWITZ WHICH HAS CHANGED HANDS 10 TIMES

from Teuton to Russian hands altogether 10 times.

Czernowitz was first captured by the Russians from the Austro-Hungarians on Sept. 1, 1914, only a few days after the outbreak of the war. The city was held by the Russians until February, 1915. In the following month the Russians again returned to the attack, and after a terrific battle stormed the capital and drove the Austrians out. This time the Russians held the position for only two weeks. Twice in January, 1916, the seat of the crown land changed hands and in June of that year it was again captured by the Russians. Czernowitz is situated on a hill south of the River Pruth and is about 100 miles westward of Lemberg, the capital of Galicia. Before the war its population was 70,000.

Russians Admit Retirement in Bukovina and Bessarabia. PETROGRAD, Aug. 3.—Kimpolung in Southern Bukovina, has been evacuated by the Russians, the War Office announced today. The Russians are now engaged with the Austro-German forces on the River Bistritza. Between the Danister and the Pruth, the Russian retirement is continuing.

The Russian forces in Southeastern Galicia, the official announcement says, after a battle with the Austro-Germans, retired across the River Zbroz at its confluence with the River Dunister.

French Republic Attack on Mille Front on Alsace.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—Troops of the German Crown Prince, after an intense artillery bombardment last night, delivered several violent attacks against the French positions near Cerny in the Alsace region along a front of about 1500 yards. The French official statement issued this afternoon says that all the attacks were repulsed. On the Belgian front the bad weather continues.

MICHAELIS WARNS GERMANS AGAINST PEACE "NERVES"

Will Work for Honorable End of War, He Says, and Appeals for Unity.

CALM FRONT URGED

Prospects for Speedy Peace Not Bright and Nation Must Avoid Mistakes.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 3.—According to a published account of conversations in Dresden, Chancellor Michaelis said that while he was ready to address an opportunity given him to secure honorable peace, the requirement of the hour for Germans was to avoid any manifestations of nervousness and prove to their opponents that Germany's might was unweakened.

Germany's opponents, Dr. Michaelis said, had been greatly encouraged by the exhibition of nerves in the latest inner crisis and by the German longing for peace, which was interpreted abroad as a sign of weakening of the German people. Peace would be brought no nearer, he said, by such things, adding that the Government would continue its efforts for peace, but would avoid earlier mistakes.

Chancellor Michaelis intimated that the prospects for a speedy peace were not bright, but that unexpected developments might bring the question to a head and produce tangible results. He appealed for unity and declared that the entire German press must back the Government in all vital questions.

London Post Praises Gompers' Refusal to Enter Socialist Conference.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The cable message from Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, to Joe Chamberlain, secretary of the International Federation of Trade Unions, refusing to participate in the International Socialist Conference, is welcomed by the Post. In an editorial the Post describes Gompers' message as a "valuable contribution" and delivered with a "valuable emphasis" adding: "Once again the allies have to thank America for a firm stand."

Horvath Says Reichstag Resolution.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 3.—The Vossische Zeitung, under a Stockholm date, prints an interview given by Camille Horvath, secretary of International Socialist conference, containing hard words against Germany. Horvath is quoted as saying that the Reichstag resolution remains a scrap of paper unless converted into deeds, and declares that tangible results are not expected by the Socialist conference unless German democracy musters courage to put an end to the military reactionary parliament.

Austria and Russia are ready to come to an understanding, Horvath declared, and the French Parliament already has disclaimed "alleged annexation designs" by which the German Government tried to make capital to check the peace current. It depends solely upon Germany to show its good will, he says, or bear the entire responsibility for the fourth winter campaign.

Horvath praised Arthur Henderson highly and says that participation of Ministers like Henderson, Albert Thomas and Tseretelli in the Socialist conference might bridge the gap between the recommendations of the resolution and the actions of the Government.

GARDNER'S TAX LEVY PLANS

Extra Session in 1918 to Cut Rate if Income Exceeds Needs.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 3.—If the additional revenues derived from increased assessments fixed by the Tax Commission, are in excess of the amount necessary to run the State Government, an extra session of the Legislature will be called in 1918 to reduce the tax rate, according to a letter written by Gov. Gardner to three citizens of Ray County who signed a protest against assessing all property at cash value.

PETROGRAD, Mich., Aug. 3.—Two men and two women were killed early today in a collision between an interurban car and an automobile on the eastern outskirts of the city. The men were Louis J. According to the motorman of the interurban the automobile was backed up on the tracks from behind a store which obstructed view of rails.

ORDER RETURNING IN RUSSIAN ARMIES, OFFICIALS REPORT

Commissioners Sent by Government to Inspect Front Tell of Improved Discipline.

KORNILOFF IS POPULAR

His Appointment as Generalissimo Is Applauded in Military Circles.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 3.—That some degree of order and discipline is being restored in the armies of the southwestern front, is indicated by telegrams from army officers to the War Department and by newspaper dispatches. Civilian Commissioner Gobeche, one of the military some time ago by the Government to visit the various armies and endeavor to restore order, has sent the following message from the southwestern front:

"I am happy to report the army of Gen. Korniloff, namely, the Eleventh, which recently ran away, now is brilliantly repulsing the enemy in desperate fighting near Huziatyn. The Seventh also has made heroic counter attacks. There is a marked change in the spirit of the troops which gives rise to the hope they will fulfill their duty toward the revolution."

It also reported certain units of the fifth army, which refused to obey commands to advance quickly, have been surrounded and disbanded by loyal troops.

Korniloff Applauded.

The appointment of Gen. Korniloff as Commander in Chief because of his recognized courage and ability is applauded in military circles. Gen. Brudilov, who has become extremely pessimistic toward the military situation, nevertheless, was urged by Premier Kerensky to withhold his resignation until improvement had been achieved, but without Gen. Korniloff's appointment then was approved by the Premier. Gen. Korniloff has recommended Gen. Tcheremimoff, the hero of Halicz, to succeed as commander of the southwestern front.

A special conference of the ministers regarding the constituent assembly has disappeared giving the franchise to the Romanoffs.

The political crisis is taking a new form, owing to growing tendency of the country to divide into two camps. In the first are the educated, especially landed and industrial classes, led by members of the Duma and Moscow manufacturers, in the second Socialists of all shades of opinion.

Fear Counter Revolt.

The opposition between the moderate Socialists and the Bolshevik group, which reached its height during the July revolt, is declining because of fear by both camps that the Duma's industrial movement aims at the counter revolution. The chief evidence of this is an official session of the Duma at which the moderate progressives combined with the old reactionaries, led by Vladimir M. Purishkevich, vice president of the Union of True Russians, in attacks on the Socialists and the Socialist policy of the Cabinet as influenced by the Councils of Workmen and Soldiers' Deputies.

Paul N. Milukoff sharply assailed the councils for trying to dictate to the non-Socialist members of the Cabinet in the manner in which they already dictate to the Socialist Ministers. A sensational speech was made by a member of the Progressive party, M. Maalenikoff, who ascribed the military defeats and internal anarchy as due wholly to the Socialists. He referred to the Socialists as "a crowd of mad fanatics, adventurers and traitors, who call themselves the Executive Council of the Workmen and Soldiers' Deputies."

Maalenikoff said the Duma alone could save Russia, but that to do so it must cease sitting in a corner, afraid of its own shadow, and meet in regular session and demand the Ministers appear before it and render an account of their stewardship.

The Constitutional Democrat, Nicholas Lvoff, also declared that the Duma must act boldly.

All the speakers repudiated the accusation they aimed at a counter revolution. They also stated that the council and Government under the influence of the council would ruin Russia irretrievably and that the Duma's only aim was to prevent such ruin.

ORDER GIVEN TO ENFORCE

MORAL ZONE AROUND CAMPS

Saloons in Five-Mile Limit of Camp Maxwell, Except Those Inside of City, to Be Closed.

United States District Attorney Oliver today received instructions from Acting Attorney-General John W. Davis, at Washington, to have the Federal liquor law applying to saloons near army camps enforced. Oliver stated that he will at once notify county authorities to co-operate with agents of the Department of Justice in arresting saloon keepers and closing resorts within the forbidden zones.

Saloons near Jefferson Barracks, according to the letter from Davis, will not be affected by the order, as the law does not apply to army posts or barracks. The law against immoral resorts operating within five miles of a camp, however, also applies to posts and barracks.

Saloons will not be permitted within five miles of Camp Maxwell, at Maxwellton or other camps, unless they are established in an incorporated town, in which case they may operate within a half mile of the camp. Those in St. Louis would be exempt.

Dr. Michaelis said that the Government would continue its efforts for peace, but would avoid earlier mistakes.

WAR TAX BILL TO RAISE 2 BILLION ALMOST FINISHED

Income Rates Fixed as High as 33 Per Cent on Sums of More Than $500,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The War Department tax bill, increased from $1,670,000,000 to approximately $2,002,000,000, virtually was completed today by the Senate Finance Committee and will be reported to the Senate tomorrow or Monday.

In preparing the final draft for the printer the committee reduced the tax on beer by 25 cents a barrel to $1.50 a barrel in addition to the tax under the present law and increased rates on wines to about double the present rates, and estimated to yield about $17,000,000 additional.

Of the $2,002,000,000 proposed new taxes, about $720,000,000 will be secured from corporate and individual incomes, $440,000,000 from rectified and distilled spirits, $400,000,000 from fermented and malt liquors and $442,000,000 from wines. Few other schedules were changed in the final revision.

An important eleven-hour change was to apply the new 1-cent bank check tax to checks of all amounts, raising about $10,000,000 in all. The bill previously taxed only checks for more than $5.

The committee also wrote in a new provision exempting from all postage letters written by American soldiers and sailors in foreign lands, and provided that the proposed new tax of 1 cent on each 25 cents paid for transporting parcel post packages shall not apply to packages weighing less than four ounces.

New Rates on Incomes.

The following new surtax rates on in-

Between $15,000 and $20,000, 6 per cent; $20,000 and $40,000, 8 per cent; $40,000 and $60,000, 10 per cent; $60,000 and $80,000, 12 per cent; $80,000 and $100,000, 15 per cent; $100,000 and $120,000, 20 per cent; $120,000 and $150,000, 25 per cent; $150,000 and $200,000, 30 per cent; $200,000 and $300,000, 35 per cent; $300,000 and $500,000, 40 per cent; and over $500,000, 45 per cent. The new increases range from 1 to 5 per cent on various grades.

Another new provision adopted provides for a flat $5000 exemption for individuals from the war excess profits taxes.

In greatly increasing wine taxes the committee decided to levy 4 cents per gallon additional, doubling the present tax of 2 cents on dry and still wines, containing less than 14 per cent of alcohol. On sweet wines, liquors, cordials and other compounds the new rate was fixed at $1.19 per proof gallon, double the present law. On alcohol used for fortifying wines the new bill levies $1 per proof gallon in addition to the present tax of 10 cents per gallon.

Present taxes on champagnes, sparkling and artificial wines would be trebled. Total taxes on champagne and sparkling wines under the revised bill would be 9 cents a half pint and 4 cents a pint on artificial wines.

That the new extra tax of $1 per gallon on distilled spirits shall not apply to that used for industrial or other than beverage purposes, such as making medicine and perfumery, also was provided.

Floor Tax on Foodstuffs.

The new floor or stack tax on sugar, tea, coffee and cocoa was modified in favor of retailers. The following amounts of such products in their hands will be exempt from the floor tax:

Tee, 50 pounds; coffee, 200 pounds; sugar, 300 pounds; grape sugar or glucose, 100 pounds, and saccharine, 100 pounds. No retailers' exemption for cocoa was provided.

All-day basket picnics are popular at Forest Park Highlands. Admission free up to 4 p. m.—ADV.

TEUTONS IN U. S. LOYAL, PRESIDENT WRITES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—President Wilson, in a letter to Representative Dyer of St. Louis, reiterated his confidence in the loyalty of the great body of American citizens of German blood.

Representative Dyer complained that Federal authorities had discharged without hearing and simply on statements or affidavits, citizens of German blood in St. Louis whose loyalty had been questioned, and that Government officials, assuming the attitude of determining what is patriotism, had indicted some of the best people in the city simply because of their German forefathers. Otto Sasman of St. Louis, for 14 years a railway mail clerk, with a clean record, a Spanish-American war veteran, who had subscribed for Liberty Loan bonds, contributed to the American Red Cross fund, and had flown the Stars and Stripes over his house ever since war was declared, Dyer said was discharged for disloyalty without notice and has yet to learn what his disloyalty consists of.

"Your letters have struck a responsive chord in my mind," the President wrote. "I have been made aware from various sources of the unfortunate positions in which a very large number of our loyal fellow-citizens are placed because of their German origin or affiliations."

"I am sure that they need no further assurance from me of my confidence in the integrity and loyalty of the great body of our fellow citizens of German blood. You know that not once, but many times, in my public addresses, I expressed this confidence. I don't like to make another occasion to express it because it would seem to indicate on my part a doubt as to whether the country had believed my previous assurances to be sincere. May I not very respectfully suggest that it would be easy to make use of the passages I have referred to from my former addresses to do something. I hope not a little, to offset the evil influences that are at work."

"Cordially and sincerely yours,"

"WOODROW WILSON."

Ambassador Gerard's Expose of Kaiserism Starts Next Sunday, Aug. 5th, in THE POST-DISPATCH

The first installment contains revelations that will deeply interest America. They include a hitherto unpublished account of a private interview between Ambassador Gerard and the Kaiser, in which the latter wrote in his own hand, a memorandum (now in Mr. Gerard's possession) giving Germany's unvarnished reason for desolating Belgium.

Ambassador Gerard is one of the handful of statesmen and diplomats who know the "inside story" of Prussia's ambition, treachery and intrigue. He is the only American who was close enough to the Kaiser to watch every step in the unfolding of the great plot against human liberty.

He has written the full account of his experiences for publication as a serial in the

POST-DISPATCH

Beginning with Sunday's issue (August 5), installments will appear daily and Sunday for about six weeks.

The POST-DISPATCH is the only newspaper in the middle West that can publish Ambassador Gerard's revelations. The serial publication rights are held by the Philadelphia Public Ledger under a special contract with Mr. Gerard and the Public Ledger is the only newspaper in the East that can print these revelations, just as the Post-Dispatch is the only newspaper in the Middle West holding these rights. No newspaper in New York, Boston, Chicago, Detroit or Cleveland has been able to obtain them.

LABOR EXEMPTION COMPLEX PROBLEM FOR DRAFT BOARDS

Must Decide Whether Men Are Essential to Industry Vital to the War.

OTHER DUTIES EXACTING

Must Determine Whether Affidavits Made in Behalf of Applicants Are True.

Three paragraphs of the rules and regulations prescribed by the President to govern district exemption boards in passing on claims for exclusion, discharge and exemption by men drawn in the selective draft are taxing the heads of the local board members, who must devise a method to deal effectively with the complex situations which are certain to arise when examinations get under way.

Not until the board had made a thorough study of the regulations and heard of the local board members, who must devise a method to deal effectively with the complex situations which are certain to arise when examinations get under way.

In addition to passing on affidavits for exemption the board must, by its own methods, determine the quality of these documents; ascertain existing conditions in industry and agriculture; ascertain available labor supply; of those under and over draft age, in industrial and agricultural pursuits, and grant discharge only on the "direct, substantial, material loss" to industry or agriculture outweigh the military worth of the man taken.

Study Industrial Conditions.
In consequence of these regulations, each member of the local board is studying labor, farm and industrial statistics in an effort to qualify himself to pass intelligently on the varied claims encountered.

The regulations provide that no man shall appear before the board in person to argue his claim, unless summoned. He must submit his case by affidavit, supported by a second affidavit from the dependent—should this be the situation—of a third affidavit from the head of a family living in the district in which he is registered. Should a wife claim exemption for a husband, she shall make the affidavit and submit two supporting affidavits of relatives. Few appeals in cases of physical disability are anticipated, as ward board physicians will pass upon these, though the Government has right of appeal in all cases.

When a woman or child or other person is dependent on a man is also a question the board must decide by its own methods, but the fact that a man is married or the head of a family does not excuse him from military service unless it shall be established to the satisfaction of the board that they are actually dependent.

Must Test Truth of Affidavits.
By some means, as yet undetermined, the board will seek to devise a method of testing the truthfulness of affidavits and for confirming claims set up by those seeking exclusion from service. It will have five days in which to pass upon each case, and it is believed to be ample time. In which to make necessary investigation and demand for discharge or exemption shall have 10 days from date of examination in which to secure affidavits and perfect his appeal to the district board.

The paragraphs giving the district board discretionary powers in handling the industrial investigation and exemption with regard to drafted men and demands a thorough study of the labor situation as follows:
"It shall be the duty of each district board to ascertain by its own methods the existing conditions in industries that may be claimed to be necessary within the meaning of the act of Congress and these regulations, and the agricultural conditions as a whole within its jurisdiction, as they may be affected by the drafting into the military service of men by the respective local boards within its jurisdiction.

Duty to Study Labor Supply.
"It shall also be the duty of each district board to ascertain as near as may be the labor supply available for agricultural and industrial purposes, and for necessary industries and for agriculture, and to take into consideration all such facts in determining such claims, and the effect of the efforts of governmental agencies to mobilize and to make such labor efficient."
"It is the opinion of the district board, the direct, substantial, material loss to any such industrial or agricultural enterprise outweighs the loss that would result from the failure to obtain the military service of any such person, a certificate of discharge may be issued to him."

When Man Is Exempt.
Rosenfeld pointed out that under the regulations no one in industry or agriculture is exempt upon the board shall have determined by investigation that he cannot be spared, or that others not subject to draft are not available to take his place, even though he may be employed in industry or agriculture, with a direct bearing on the military arm of the nation.

In short, he added for example, munitions workers, farmers and those employed in factories working on Government contracts are liable for military service should the board determine they can be spared or replaced by others.

First St. Louisan Accepted for the New National Army

WESLEY KITCHEN.

READY TO FIGHT, SAY FIRST MEN ACCEPTED

Wesley Kitchen, a Switchman; George John Wuig, a Carpenter; Both Are 21.

"I am dead willing to do what I can I am ready whenever they want me," said Wesley Kitchen, 21 years old, of 1814 Chouteau avenue, the first St. Louisan to be accepted in the national army. Kitchen says he has no dependents and will not claim exemption. "I don't know a whole lot about what's going on over there," he said. "I haven't read a whole lot about it, but I'm ready to do what they want me to."

"I was born in Chicago, and have lived in St. Louis practically all my life. My parents were Irish, but they're both dead. I don't think there is anything much the matter with me to keep me out of the army, outside of a little stomach trouble."

Almost Perfect Health.
Kitchen says he is a switchman, but is not working at present. He is 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 137 pounds. He is in almost perfect health, the examining physicians said.

After he had been examined by the physicians, Kitchen went home "dressed up" and came back and posed for photographers. He was followed about by a large crowd of friends, who congratulated him.

"I don't know exactly how I feel about being the first man accepted," he said. "I guess it's a pretty big honor, all right."

Father Born in Germany.
George John Wuig, 21 years old, of 3114 Glasgow avenue, a carpenter, unmarried, was the first man examined under the draft summons, but Kitchen was accepted some time before him. He was examined in the Twenty-first Ward at 3:20 p. m. and was formally accepted shortly after 5 p. m.

Wuig's father, Herman Wuig, was born in Germany, and his mother was born in this country of German parents. He is a good physical specimen and no defects were noted by the examining physician. He did not ask for exemption.

"I do not believe in fighting," he told a Post-Dispatch reporter, "but a man's belief should not interfere with his duty to his country. I would like to go to France to deliver my best for this country and be in at the great victory."

Won't Be a "Look In."
"I can't say I am enthusiastic, for it is too serious a matter, and I doubt if I would have enlisted had I not been drafted, but since they have taken me I am ready to make the greatest sacrifice."

"I believe the United States was justified in entering the war, and I do not believe Germany will have a 'look in' when our army gets over there."

"The way the United States is raising an army appeals to me as absolutely fair, and there should be no complaint from anyone taken in the draft."

"Germany, in a way, has attacked our home; they had no right to sink our ships or those of other neutrals, and it is up to us to defend the honor of our home."

FOUR DRAFT BOARDS ON DUTY READY TO EXAMINE MEN

jected on physical grounds, and one accepted. A Jay Kuhs, president of the Kuhs Real Estate Co., was the eleventh man examined in the Ninth Ward. He made an excellent showing except for eyesight and was directed to go to an oculist for a careful examination of his eyes before the board finally passes upon him. He said he would claim exemption on the ground that he was the support of his father and mother, a wife, and other relatives, and that he was the president and secretary of two growing corporations which need his services. His father, A. H. Kuhs, was president of the A. H. Kuhs Real Estate Co. until a few years ago, when as a member of the Board of Education, he became involved in a real estate transaction which resulted in his being ousted from the board.

In a race between the Twenty-first and Seventh Ward boards, yesterday afternoon, for the honor of receiving the first man into the army, the Twenty-first Ward board, meeting in the Pauley Building, examined George John Wuig, 21 years old, a carpenter, of 3114 Glasgow avenue, beginning at 3:20 and ending at 3:52. His acceptance, however, was not announced until 5 o'clock. He is willing to serve.

The Seventh Ward board was later in beginning the examination of Wesley Kitchen, 21, a switchman, of 1814 Chouteau avenue, whose test began at 3:45. But at 4 o'clock the acceptance of Kitchen was definitely announced. He is willing to serve.

It was not Kitchen's fault that he was not the first man examined in St. Louis. He had been waiting since 2 o'clock, but others were also waiting, who intended to claim exemption, and members of the board did not readily agree which one they should examine first. They finally decided, in view of Kitchen's announcement that he would not claim exemption, to examine him first.

Wuig was the only one to appear for examination in the Twenty-first Ward. He was not required, by the terms of his notification, to appear until next Monday, but the board had announced that it would examine anyone who wished to call before that time. Wuig was forty-third in order of call in the ward.

Father Native of Germany.
Wuig's father, Herman Wuig, a grocer, was born in Germany. His mother was born in this country, and is of German descent. The young man said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he approved of the action of the United States in entering the war. He said he was willing to fight for the United States against Germany, and that he considered the draft the fairest method of raising an army. He had decided to wait for his call under the draft.

The second man examined in the Seventh Ward was Matt Zupun of 1016 South Eleventh street. He claimed exemption as an unnaturalized alien, being an Austrian. He was discharged because of physical deficiencies, without examination into the question of his allegiance.

Family Ready for Him to Go.
Harrison Coons of 1306 Chouteau avenue, another who presented himself for examination, has a wife and three children, but he said he would not claim exemption. The board did not get to him yesterday.

"My wife and children are able to take care of themselves," said Coons. "They want me to go, and I want to go."

Coons said he was in good physical condition.

MORE THAN 400 FT RILEY STUDENTS ARE REJECTED

Those Who Will Not Get Officers' Commissions Urged to Enlist in National Army.

FORT RILEY, Kan., Aug. 3.—In accordance with an order from the War Department, between 400 and 500 student officers at the training camp here were notified late yesterday they would not receive commissions. Youth was the determining factor in the majority of cases, it was said.

The rejected candidates for commissions are urged to enlist in the national army, where they were told they would be recommended for appointment as noncommissioned officers. With the announcement the training camp contained two groups—those rejected who were trying to make the best of their misfortune, and the successful students who were assured of commissions. These latter did not know just what rank their commissions carried, but they were satisfied that they had passed the probation successfully, and celebrated.

Officers' Camp Students Charge Partiality in Recommendations.
NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 2.—Charging that partiality has been shown in recommendations for commissions in the officers' reserve corps, two former members of the training camp at Fort Niagara are on their way to Washington to register a protest. They are Cornelius Dougherty, former noncommissioned officer of the Pennsylvania National Guard, and Harry L. Gormley, who was a Lieutenant in the Pennsylvania guard.

MORE OFFICER-STUDENTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—An increase of 30 per cent in the number of candidates to be admitted to the second officers' reserve training camps, opening on Aug. 27, has been ordered by the War Department. Sixteen thousand were to have been admitted. The number has been raised to 20,800.

County will not begin until Monday, which is the date set for Division No. 3, at Kirkwood. The notices in this district call for 80 men on Monday, 91 on Tuesday and 91 on Wednesday. Division No. 1 will begin examinations Wednesday at Clayton, calling 90 men for each of the first two days and 86 for Friday. Division No. 3 will start Wednesday at Ferguson with men called for the first day, and 91 on each of the two following days.

Twenty-Eighth Expects to Mail Out Notices Today.

The Twenty-eighth Ward board, with headquarters at the Jewish Hospital, expects to mail out its notices late today, which would bring up the first group of men for examination next Wednesday morning. The Thirtieth and Twenty-fourth wards are still working on their lists of eligibles and are unable to say when they will be ready to mail out notices or announce examination dates. The examination dates of all wards except these three already have been announced.

Fifty Per Cent of Men Examined in New York City Physically Qualified.
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Selection of men for the national army continued here today with virtually all local boards reporting satisfactory progress. In the districts where the young society men live, few if any instances have been recorded of exemption being claimed. Conditions on the lower East Side, in districts where residents of foreign birth are not so prominent, are different. Here claims of exemption are the rule.

Revised figures show that of 4515 men examined yesterday 2119 were physically qualified to join the national army. Of this number 1000 would claim exemption. Reports from 40 boards show about a third of the men called for examination had already appeared.

While the general average of the city shows about 50 per cent of the men examined passed by physicians, this percentage rose to 76 in the districts where the number of foreign residents was few.

Board in Sixteenth Trying to Locate Dey (Cayton and George Reeves).
Members of the Exemption Board in the Sixteenth Ward are making efforts to locate two men who were drawn in the first draft and who cannot be found. The men are Dey Cayton, who gave his address as 3116 Clark avenue, and George Reeves, 2633 Bernard avenues. The notices mailed to the men on July 31 had been returned because the men had moved and left no forwarding address.

The men are to appear before the board for examination on Saturday and unless they show up by Tuesday they will be posted as acceptable by the ward board.

MARRIAGE AFTER EXAMINATION CALL NOT DISCHARGE EXCUSE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Local boards have been formally instructed by Post Marshal-General Crowder that "the selective service law does not require discharges in all cases of technical legal dependency, but only permits discharges when, in view of dependency, a discharge is advisable. Local boards may well hold that a marriage hastily performed recently, and especially one entered upon by a person after he has been called to present himself for examination to determine his fitness for military service, does not create a status of dependency in which it is advisable to grant a discharge."

"It is to be expected that local boards will exercise this full discretion in cases where they are convinced that unscrupulous persons are thus violating the principles of the selective service law in hope of escaping a duty."

RIOTING WIRY N EAST ST. LOUIS BY CONGRESS URGED

Rodenberg and Dyer Advocate Race Trouble Investigation
by Joint Committee.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Federal investigation of the race riots in East St. Louis, Ill., on July 2, by a congressional joint committee was urged before the House Rules Committee today by Representatives Rodenberg of East St. Louis and Dyer of St. Louis and a delegation of negroes.

"The plain, unvarnished truth," said Rodenberg, "is that civil government in East St. Louis collapsed and the ferocity, brutality and viciousness of the mob that committed the outrages were beyond description. The police department joined the rioters and helped to shoot negroes. I am told the Colonel in charge of the militia took no steps to handle the situation. A man in whose word I have confidence told me of a person who had been shot by a militiaman. Maurice Joyce, who, I think, will be the next Federal judge of that district, told me that a negro started toward a group of eight militiamen, and that they pointed their bayonets at him and he fled back to the mob, which shot and killed him, and Joyce himself had a narrow escape from being shot."

Governor Investigating.
Representative Dyer of Illinois, a member of the committee, announced that he today received a telegram from the Governor of Illinois, saying he was making a thorough investigation "on and that no man implicated in the outrage would be spared."

Rodenberg recommended that investigation be made by a Federal court through a special grand jury impaneled for the purpose and he, especially, wanted to confer with Judge Larkin, of the latter took the view that it was questionable whether as an infraction of State law the riot was a proper subject of judicial inquiry.

Rodenberg said that a congressional action would have a tremendous moral effect on the situation.

Threats to Burn Plant.
Threats within the last few days to burn the $100,000 plant of the American Aluminum Co. at East St. Louis, which comes the clay for the aluminum used in manufacture of airplanes and other purposes at the various plants of the company, were disclosed by Rodenberg. Explaining that there were only two companies of regular troops left in East St. Louis, he said that the aluminum company's manager had received threats that as soon as the two companies were withdrawn the plant would be burned.

The city government has very little money and had only 80 policemen at the time of the riot, he said, but that manufacturers had raised a fund of $105,000 to provide better police protection. Rodenberg said the East St. Louis affair was both racial and economic, but that there was not a bit of evidence to justify the charge that the negroes were imported into the city and colonized for political purposes.

Could Not Identify Rioters.
Questioned as to whether the participants might be identified he said that Maurice Joyce, an old resident of East St. Louis, who was in the thick of the excitement told him he did not recognize one man engaging in it. Rodenberg said that the rioters had saddled an expense of $10,000,000 on the taxpayers of this city.

Hallie Queen, a negro Red Cross worker, said that the Red Cross was willing to give important evidence as to the number of mob leaders.

Bishop Ross, Prof. Kelly, Miller and Cook of Howard University and other negroes were present. Several members of the committee informally expressed the view that the results of the investigation should be reported.

It developed during the hearing that a vigilance committee of 200 East St. Louis citizens fully armed has been organized to supplement and assist the police in the suppression of any future rioting, and the committee is prepared to act quickly in enforcement of order.

Representative Rodenberg said he expected the Rules Committee would report the resolution, with a view to inquiry after September.

Senator Thompson of Kansas, chairman of the Senate Expenditure Committee, would probably make a favorable report Monday of the resolution of Senator Sherman for investigation of the race riots in East St. Louis by a congressional joint committee of the riots.

TRAIN QUARTERMASTER'S CORPS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Officers and men of the Quartermaster's Corps of the war armies are to be given a special course of training at a Quartermaster's camp soon to be established. Between 10,000 and 20,000 privates will be enrolled, presumably from among the men brought into service under the selective draft. The officers, 3000 in number, will be selected from the personnel of the present officers' training camps.

The site of the Quartermaster's camp and the detailed plans for selecting the enlisted personnel of the corps remain to be determined. A tract of about 300 acres will be needed. The War Department expects to announce the location soon.

21 More Motorists Arrested.
Twenty-one motorists were made last night in the roundup of delinquent motorists—nine for speeding, four for violating traffic ordinances, four without rear lights, one with glaring headlights, two without licenses, and one for careless driving. All were booked for police court.

Remarkable Feats of British Flyer Who "Shoots Up" German Air Camp

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM, Aug. 3.

WONDERFUL heroism was displayed by the British airmen who performed remarkable deeds. One typical instance will indicate the nature of the important work they carried out.

A British aviator crossed the Ypres salient just as the infantry attack began at dawn. For a time he patrolled the roads and canals, now and then running the gauntlet of enemy fire at a height of 30 feet in order to obtain information for the guidance of the infantry in their advance. During this patrol work he came to a German aerodrome. Owing to the early hour, only one enemy was stirring outside the shed and he paused in his abutments only long enough to satisfy himself that the plane above him evidently was one of his own.

The British aviator circled down and dropped a bomb squarely on one of the sheds. This brought numbers of Germans tumbling in a panic from the buildings. He turned his machine gun on them, and circling about the field, bombed two other sheds with disastrous effect. All the while kept up a steady stream of machine gunfire at the Germans, a number of whom were killed or wounded.

The Germans finally got a machine gun in action against him, but he dived and at 30 feet silenced it with his own gun. Having put this gun out of action, he circled the field, firing with his machine gun through the doors of buildings at the huddled enemy within. At one time his machine actually touched the ground.

Leaving the aerodrome, the British aviator attacked two German mounted officers and put them to flight. A little later he encountered a column of 20 troops and swept along the line, with his gun working steadily. The entire column was dispersed and fled by devious ways to cover, leaving numbers of their comrades lying in the road.

Two German battle planes appeared on the scene and the British flyer engaged them both, sending one to the earth and putting the other to flight. He pursued the fleeing plane, but it was soon lost in the clouds.

In the meantime a large body of German soldiers had gathered around the machine which had been brought down. The British flying man came sweeping back from the mists in which he had hidden and accounted for several of their number with his machine gun.

His next objective was a troop train. He traveled along its entire length, pumping bullets into the crowded cars. This completes the story of one aviator's fight for the day, but he later did valuable scouting work over the enemy lines.

Delayed British Progress Near Hollebeke, but Did Not Save Germans.

By Associated Press.
BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM, Thursday, Aug. 2.—The British and French and the Germans alike along the front of the battle in Flanders still hold their positions late today in a bogland produced by the torrential rainstorm which has been delaying the battle since from Tuesday evening until today, when it showed signs of moderating.

Beyond artillery operations, which are continuing with great intensity, there is little activity with the exception of the Germans wrestled from the British are resting in consolidated and strongly organized positions commanding the territory which they captured from the Germans in the first few hours' onslaught.

St. Julien today continued to be a storm center, the artillery of both sides pounding steadily at their opponents' positions about this place. The British are again in possession of the 300-yard front just north of Troneberg, which the Germans wrestled from them in a counter attack late yesterday. In a sharp drive last night, after heavy artillery preparation, the British forced the Germans from this strong position and have held it since. This was the only counter attack of any consequence delivered by the Germans since last Wednesday.

Germans in Holes Overlooked.
Detailed reports of Tuesday's battle show that the front between Hollebeke and La Basseeville was the scene of some of the heaviest fighting of the day. The Australians and Englishmen charging along this line swept over large numbers of Germans lying in shell holes, who were overlooked in the semi-darkness.

Immediately after the British troops had gone beyond these holes, the Germans began sniping at the rear of the advancing forces. These snipers were eventually dealt with and the shell holes, cleared. The morale of the men in troops in this position is said to have been good and they made a stiff fight for the positions which they finally had to relinquish.

In the ruined village of Hollebeke the British were faced with large numbers of concrete dugouts which had no surface entrance but which were approached by tunnels. The attacking troops forced their way into these strongholds, which contained large numbers of men, and blew them to pieces with bombs.

Just north of Hollebeke two strongly held German positions were occupied without a stop. On the ground overlooking Wytschaete the British encountered shell holes, camouflaged with wired netting and hedges which had been interlaced with barbed wire. This delayed their progress somewhat, but did not save the Germans. Fierce fighting occurred here and the Australians, who were conducting the offensive, carried the positions with bayonets, killing large numbers of the enemy.

One notable incident of the day's fighting occurred in the Westwall-Gapard farm road at a wildmill on a slight elevation. This place previously had been bitterly contested because it overlooks the surrounding country, which is very flat. The Australians took the place in the early morning, but the Germans regained it the same night. At midnight the Australians charged, the position with bayonets and ejected the Germans after a sanguinary fighting. La Basseeville also was the scene of severe fighting and here, as at Hollebeke, were found concrete dugouts, which are now filled with their dead defenders, who were bombed.

BRITISH FLYERS FURNISH GREATEST WAR SPECTACLE

Surpass Own Records for Efficiency and Daring in Battle of Flanders.

By Associated Press.
BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM, Aug. 3.—The work done by the British air service in Tuesday's offensive has not been surpassed in efficiency and spectacular features since the war began.

More unfavorable weather for aerial operations could hardly have been selected. At dawn, when the infantry advance began, the whole country was blanketed by thick, low-lying clouds, and by afternoon rain had begun to fall.

Despite these tremendous disadvantages, huge squadrons of British planes led the advance into the enemy territory and not only maintained constant contact with their infantry, but, flying at such a low altitude that they often were only a few feet from the ground, they carried on a destructive warfare of their own with their machine guns. Many flights occurred between the rival pilots, but the Germans were completely outclassed, both in numbers and skill, and were forced to retire at most points, after losing six machines.

The majority of these air battles were at a height of 200 feet or less, and in at least one instance, the two opposing pilots battled to within 50 feet of the ground, at which height the German side-slipped and crashed to the earth.

The British planes were under constant and heavy fire, particularly from rifles and machine guns, owing, in the low altitude at which they were flying, but through all this hurricane of lead and steel all but three came safely. They are reported missing, and there is no indication of what befell them.

Numerous instances are related of pilots charging the anti-aircraft gunners and machine gun operators at a height of 30 or 40 feet and silencing the guns. Pistol duels between the British aviators and the German infantry were not uncommon occurrences.

In one instance a young aviator, in a burst of chivalry, deliberately stopped his machine gun when a German officer drew his pistol and began shooting at him and engaged the enemy with his pistol, apparently feeling that he had no right to take an unfair advantage of his opponent. The aviator's pistol was sufficient, however.

PLAN TO SAFEGUARD AMERICAN SHIPS HAS BEEN WORKED OUT

War Relief Societies Advised to Adopt System by Naval Consulting Board.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Plans to safeguard American ships from submarine attack have been worked out by the Naval Consulting Board and a special committee appointed by Major-General George W. Goethals, it became known here when W. L. Saunders, chairman of the board, advised war relief societies to adopt the system as a safeguard for their shipments. Details of the plans were not made public.

Saunders, in a letter to John Moffat, secretary of the Federal Council of Allied War Relief Societies, explained that his suggestion was prompted by the sinking of four relief ships within three weeks. He said that the plans had been approved by the Federal authorities, who now are putting into effect through the War Risk Insurance Bureau a premium on ships equipped according to its provisions.

Drill Book a Constant Source of Instruction

Chapter 17, "A Soldier's Guide"

By JAMES M. HUTCHINSON,
Lieutenant-Colonel of the Seventy-
First New York Infantry.

THE new soldier arriving at camp or new soldier arriving at camp receives a small book. It carries no formidable title. It is smaller than any book the soldier studied, probably, at school or university.

The first impression of the soldier on receiving the "drill regulations" is probably that he can master it in a week or two.

Which means that the young soldier has much to learn and but little to do.

Here is a confidential tip to all youngsters who think they can treat the "drill regulations" lightly: It is a book you can study till the last day you are in the service—whether it is 30 years away or only 30 weeks.

For instance, when a soldier of infantry has mastered the infantry drill regulations he will be familiar with the whole theory of infantry warfare.

Helps to Lighten Work.
The recruit who is ambitious, who intends to make his service as a profession or a trade as long as he serves will do well to supply himself with a copy of the regulations of his own. The more he learns of it the more interest he will become, and the less tedious will be all the monotonous grind of the preliminary work. He will have learned the reason for all the steps which he is compelled to take.

The first lesson which the recruit is taught is that of military courtesy. It is this courtesy which makes the wheels of the military machine turn without friction. This courtesy also puts the individual soldier in his proper place and identifies him as belonging to an organization with proper discipline.

It stamps his officers, from the lowest to the highest, with their real efficiency rating. A recruit who does not know how to salute properly has not been properly taught. It is because his officers and noncommissioned officers have not the proper pride in their organization or unit.

When the recruit has been shown how to salute properly, let him get off somewhere with a "bunkie" and practice it, or let him try it out before some mirror. A shaving mirror is plenty large enough. Let him watch and see the effect in which a noncommissioned officer of a regular outfit salutes. It is a work of art to see how it is done. When a recruit has learned how to salute properly he is on a fair way to be a good soldier.

Courtesy is Important.
Remember the occasions and the officers you should salute. Do not salute noncommissioned officers, though some body will advise you to do it under penalty of going to the guardhouse. This is another of the steps in the initiation of the recruit. As a general rule, you identify the officer by the insignia on his shoulders or his collar. The noncommissioned officers wear his insignia on his sleeves.

You are to salute all officers whether you recognize them as belonging to your own organization or not. Look for the mark of an officer's rank and salute the person who wears the mark.

The man who salutes properly will wear his uniform properly and will take pride in looking like a soldier. When he feels that he looks like a soldier he will try to act like one. And if he tries to act like one he will soon become one.

"Every inch a soldier" is a proud distinction.

The theoretical instruction, as laid down in the drill regulations, is divided into a number of subjects called "schools," so that the recruit will know when he hears that he is to be instructed in the "school of the soldier," that he is to be taught what he must learn as an individual before he can advance into any instruction in teamwork. Then follows instruction in the work of the smallest team—the squad. This is the "school of the squad." This follows, in sequence, the "school of the company" and the "school of the battalion."

Must Learn to Stand.
The recruit should be taught first to stand like a soldier. This is the position of the soldier at attention. It is very precise and formal. It should be learned exactly or it has no value.

When it is described to you, remember that it starts the description at the bottom of the body and works up. It is easy to remember and check up if you learn it the hard way. First the head and feet, then the knees, the hips, the chest, the hands and arms, the shoulders, the neck and chin, the head and eyes. Then it winds up with the distribution of the weight of the body.

ment, is 120 paces or steps to the minute. "Double time" is 180 to the minute. Any movement may be executed in either quick or double time unless otherwise prescribed.

"Mark time" is used to continue the cadence without gaining ground. The individual soldier may change the direction of his march, in a formal manner, by executing "By the right flank, march." "By the left flank, march." "To the rear, march."

When the soldier is out of step he corrects it by executing "Change step, march."

"Eyes right" or "eyes left" are used in the dressings, which means the placing of a number of soldiers on an indicated straight line or as part of a ceremony.

These few things cover all the individual movements of the soldier. As they are few in number and simple in execution, there is no reason why the recruit should not learn them quickly and do them well.

Remember, the duty of the soldier is precision in everything. Learn to do the little things precisely and the big things, the matters of success or failure of the army of which you are an important part, will be done right.

Two Russians Stand Out.
In looking over the three years' dead of Russia, one finds two figures that stand out, though neither took an active part in the present war. The first was Gen. Anatoli Mikhailovitch Stoessel, who at one time during the Russo-Japanese war was the man of the hour.

A Japanese twist of fate he was first hailed as the "Hero of Port Arthur" and honored for the part he took in that encounter. Later it was discovered that he had been guilty of cowardice, and he was condemned to death for surrendering his forces in order to save his skin.

The second figure is that of Count Sergius Julevitch Witte, who as president of the Council of Ministers, was a Russian-Japanese war to fix the terms of peace. Although not a soldier, he was at the front in the great war. Witte was known to have been the leader of a group which wanted a separate peace with Germany.

Rasputin, the powerful monk at the court of the deposed Czar Nicholas, is the most interesting among the dead of Russia. Maintaining for years an influence over the life and morals of the royal household and taking an active and treacherous part in the politics of the nation, he became the most dangerous figure in Russian political life. It was left for a Prince to assassinate him, and the body of the priest was found in a lake last January.

Rumania Loses King.
King Carol of Rumania is the only man of prominence who has died in that best little country. In Italy the death of Pope Pius X was hastened by worries over the war situation. He died on Aug. 20, 1914. Italy lost a great military leader in Lieutenant-General Luigi Cadorna, commander of the Albanian expeditionary forces, who was drowned on Dec. 12, 1914, when his ship Regina Margherita was sunk by the enemy.

Although not a bell-crest until April last, America has been paying her war toll since May 7, 1914, when the Lusitania went down. Among the victims of that outrage most widely known to the world.

$25,000 HOUSE SOLD TO SATISFY $55 JUDGMENT

Original Owner Brings Suit in Clayton Court to Regain the Property.

How a $25,000 house and lot was sold to satisfy a $55 judgment was brought out in the Circuit Court at Clayton today, when Charles A. Houts, attorney for Charles P. and Mary H. van Graafieland, filed a motion to set aside the sale and return the title to the property to his clients.

The judgment was obtained in Justice Mathews' court at Clayton on Dec. 18, 1913, by H. J. Wright, a painting subcontractor, against E. J. Charville, the general contractor, in the erection of the van Graafieland home, and Mr. and Mrs. van Graafieland.

The judgment was certified to the Circuit Court and in May of this year the court issued an execution against the property and delivered it to the Sheriff, who advertised the property for sale. It was bought in by Wright for $87.50, which represented his claim plus the court costs. The deed to the property thereupon was delivered to Wright.

In asking that the sale be set aside, Houts declares among other things that his clients never were notified that the judgment had been obtained, and that they did not know until 30 days after the sale that it had been sold.

Houts makes the further claim that Mr. and Mrs. van Graafieland offered to pay Wright the amount of his indebtedness, but that he refused it and snatched the Sheriff's writ to settle the claim fairly he could have sold a portion of the land rather than the entire lot and house.

The house, which has 11 rooms and a large sun porch, is situated at 3 Southmoor, one of the most exclusive parts of Clayton. Graefieland, who is a dealer in Oklahoma lands, has an office in the Central National Bank Building. Mrs. Graefieland filed a Post-Dispatch reporter this morning that an attorney representing Wright had asked her and her husband to move, as Wright wanted possession of the premises.

Judge Wurdeman set a hearing on the motion for Saturday morning.

How a $25,000 house and lot was sold to satisfy a $55 judgment was brought out in the Circuit Court at Clayton today, when Charles A. Houts, attorney for Charles P. and Mary H. van Graafieland, filed a motion to set aside the sale and return the title to the property to his clients.

The judgment was obtained in Justice Mathews' court at Clayton on Dec. 18, 1913, by H. J. Wright, a painting subcontractor, against E. J. Charville, the general contractor, in the erection of the van Graafieland home, and Mr. and Mrs. van Graafieland.

The judgment was certified to the Circuit Court and in May of this year the court issued an execution against the property and delivered it to the Sheriff, who advertised the property for sale. It was bought in by Wright for $87.50, which represented his claim plus the court costs. The deed to the property thereupon was delivered to Wright.

In asking that the sale be set aside, Houts declares among other things that his clients never were notified that the judgment had been obtained, and that they did not know until 30 days after the sale that it had been sold.

Houts makes the further claim that Mr. and Mrs. van Graafieland offered to pay Wright the amount of his indebtedness, but that he refused it and snatched the Sheriff's writ to settle the claim fairly he could have sold a portion of the land rather than the entire lot and house.

The house, which has 11 rooms and a large sun porch, is situated at 3 Southmoor, one of the most exclusive parts of Clayton. Graefieland, who is a dealer in Oklahoma lands, has an office in the Central National Bank Building. Mrs. Graefieland filed a Post-Dispatch reporter this morning that an attorney representing Wright had asked her and her husband to move, as Wright wanted possession of the premises.

Judge Wurdeman set a hearing on the motion for Saturday morning.

The moonlight excursion of the Alliance Club (formerly the Vortex Club), for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund, will take place on the steamer Belle of the Bends tonight. The boat will leave Olive street at 7:30 o'clock and advance sales of tickets indicate that more than 800 persons, members of the club and their friends, will attend.

Arrangements have been made for a number of musical selections. In addition to those to be given by the boat's five-piece orchestra, Charles E. Blume of the Paragon Quartet, Edgar Walsh of the Westminster Presbyterian Church choir, William Gray, tenor, and Richard Richter, violinist, will participate in the musical numbers. President Dawson, Earl Bowman and Edward Kaercher, all of the Alliance Club, will deliver short addresses. Dancing will be in progress all evening.

The $1000 worth of prizes that have been donated by various business houses of the city will be given away, with the exception of an Edison phonograph. Special arrangements have been made for the disposal of the phonograph. The managers of the excursion expect it to yield several hundred dollars for the fund to aid poor babies.

A number of one-act sketches, including "Poor Babies in the Woods," "The Drunkard" and "In School," in conjunction with a Huu dance and songs and recitations, were given at 3902 Shaw avenue, yielding $4.77 for the milk and ice fund. The children who participated in this successful entertainment were Gladys Patten, 3902 Shaw avenue; Florence and Evelyn Hirschfeld, 3914 Shaw avenue; Francis White, 3908 Shaw avenue; Edna and Arthur Steinberg, 3928 Shaw avenue.

Negro Minstrel Show. An admirable impersonation of negro minstrels by Andrew Pelot and John Cella and the excellent rendition of a number of fancy dances by Lucille Hirsch and Herriett Cella were the principal features of a vaudeville entertainment given at the home of Andrew Pelot of 6318 Cates avenue, July 31, which yielded $12. Other participants were Marion Dreihler, Louise Edler, Louise and Carmen Bernero, Edward Piggett and Leona Rizzo.

Seven children, all under 9 years of age, gave a highly entertaining patriotic entertainment on the lawn of 4561 Oakland avenue, July 30, that was productive of $5.04. The program consisted of patriotic songs and dances which the children rendered in costumes depicting Uncle Sam and Columbia. Those who took part were Edward McDonald, 4561 Oakland avenue; Ella Rogers, 4561 Oakland avenue; "Doll" Hayward and Alice Clarke, 4569 Oakland avenue; Helen Canterbury, 4569 Oakland avenue; and Vv Rowe, 4561 Oakland avenue.

"Little Red Riding Hood" was the principal number in the entertainment given by a group of children living in the 300 block of Alberta street which yielded $4.38. Other numbers were musical selections and recitations. The lawn was decorated with Japanese lanterns and the children were all in costume. Those who participated were: Leslie Hanson, Rose Everts, Hilda Melchion, Louise Quellena, Delbert Melchion and Joe and Oliver Schaller. Estelle and Ida Range have sent $4 for the Milk and Ice Fund. No mention was made in their letter of how the money was earned.

A charming vaudeville entertainment given at the home of Dorothy Booker of 4233 Russell avenue yielded $1.70. The participants were Ruth Moore, Norman Moore, Virginia, Bobbie and Park Judah. Dorothy and Frances Booker, Mildred Durham and Edwin Strussberger, Fred Thorpe, 4 and Charles de Rosemary Thorpe, 4 years old, conducted a lemonade stand in the vicinity of their home which yielded $1.

The children were Pauline and Lucille Ramsboth, Irene, Harold and Forest Burton, Edwin and Janet Cobb, Walter Scott, Irene and Mary Brady, Maxine Harton and Raymond Scott.

Conduct Lemonade Stand. Esther Pohle, Peggy Cramer and Dorothy Brunk conducted a lemonade stand in the 2900 block of Greer avenue which yielded $1.25. The lemonade sold for a penny a glass.

Woman Sends Annual Gift. Mrs. C. D. Morley, 2833 Russell avenue, an annual contributor, sends her check for $6. Mrs. Morley writes: "My interest is as keen as ever for the success of your undertaking to 'save the babies'."

A lemonade stand conducted by Katherine Graham of 2545 Lee avenue and Ethel Reed of 2545 Lee avenue brought $1 for the babies' fund.

"Fourteen" sends a contribution of $2.50 to assist in the relief of the little ones of the tenement districts. The benefit entertainment at the Jewish Educational Alliance, 901 Carr street, last week, yielded $2.71. The Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund motion picture and another illustrating city playground work, were shown. The amount sent to the milk and ice fund from this entertainment represents the entire receipts.

Sylvia Weinbach and Ruth Steiner disposed of a large box of candy for $7. The little girls wrote to the Post-Dispatch in sending the money: "We hope your fund meets with the best of success."

U. S. SAILORS IN BRITISH WATERS DON'T TAKE TO TEA

Afternoon Custom Not Introduced on Board Ships Where Black Coffee Is Popular Drink.
BASE AMERICAN PLOTILLAS IN BRITISH WATERS, Aug. 3.—Black coffee is the popular drink with the men over here in Uncle Sam's naval navy. Steaming hot coffee is always on tap on board the destroyers when they are out looking for submarines. The men say it not only keeps them awake but serves also as a stimulant and protector against the rigorous climatic conditions under which they labor. They have not yet carried on board ship the afternoon tea habit which they have formed ashore and found such a satisfactory substitute for the use of alcoholic drinks.

The vast majority of the men say they do not miss the absence of intoxicating drink on board their ships. Those who want it can get it ashore from midday until 5 in the evening, but for the vast majority the liquor saloons have very little charm. The record of the men as a whole in this respect, say their officers, has been one of the gratifying features of their stay here. The patrols, therefore, have very little to do but walk up and down the main street of the village in search of the trouble that seldom comes.

Loan to Belgium Government. WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—A loan of $2,000,000 was made by the United States yesterday to meet immediate needs of the Belgian Government. It was in addition to the $5,000,000 credit established some time ago, under which $750,000 is being advanced to the nation monthly.

AMERICAN GUNBOAT RESCUES MEXICANS FROM BARREN ISLE

Eleven Women and Children, Survivors of Colony, Tell Story of Long Suffering.

ORIGINAL GROUP OF 100

Starvation and Disease Since February, 1914, Killed Off the Others.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

SALINA CRUZ, Mexico, Aug. 3.—The officers and men of the United States gunboat Yorktown received an enthusiastic token of appreciation yesterday from the authorities and citizens for their services in rescuing 11 Mexican women and children from death on bar-ren Clipperton Island, 65 miles from Acapulco in the Pacific. Those landed here by the Yorktown constitute the remnants of a colony of more than 100 persons who went to Clipperton in February, 1914, as colonists. The remainder perished by scurvy or drowning. The tale of the survivors as narrated by Senora Marie Arnau, widow of the Governor, records suffering and deprivation at once thrilling and pathetic.

Soon after the colonists took possession of the island, the American schooner Nokomis, numbering 13, were cast away remaining several months until part of the crew rowed in a small boat to Acapulco. Then the United States gun-boat Cleveland voyaged to Clipperton, taking away the remainder of the No-komis company.

The Captain of the Cleveland offered to land the colonists on the main land, but they refused, saying they were unable to depart without orders from the Mexican Government, which was expected to send provisions to them every four months. Following the departure of the Cleveland no other vessel touched the island until the arrival of the Yorktown. When food was not brought to them the exhausted island inhabitants were compelled to subsist upon fish and the flesh and eggs of sea birds.

Scurvy appeared and took its toll until only about half of the colonists survived. Sighting a sailing vessel in May, 1916, Gov. Arnau, with three men weakened by hunger and illness, put off in a small boat to intercept the ship.
Watching the boat through a spyglass, Senora Arnau saw it capsize. Her husband and his companions drowned.

From then until the Yorktown appeared, five women and seven children of the colony were forced to maintain an almost continual fight against the only man left, a negro lighthouse keeper. He secreted all the arms and ammunition in the lighthouse and compelled the women to obey him in all things threatening murder to them if they disobeyed. He threatened to send as a ship came to slay the entire 11 so they would be unable to inform against him. Only a few hours before the Yorktown towed into sight, one woman, unable any longer to withstand the man's treatment, beat him to death with a hammer.

Besides the other troubles a cyclone in June, 1915, destroyed all the houses on the island.

In his report to the British legation at Mexico City the British Consul, William Wiseman, in charge of the American consulate here, says:

"The Yorktown intended to sail this afternoon, but the authorities and the people earnestly entreated the Captain to remain a few hours longer, as they wished to arrange a reception in honor of the officers and crew to show their appreciation of the noble act of rescue.
The Captain agreed to postpone the sailing until midnight. A reception was held under the auspices of the government. Most cordial speeches of thanks and appreciation for the noble work of the officers and men of the Yorktown were made, to which the Captain replied in appropriate terms."

Order Is Issued After Pro-German Citizens Are Released on Bond.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Io., Aug. 3.—A dispatch from Lowden this morning indicates that everything is quiet there today after the arrests of the alleged German sympathizers yesterday. Those having pro-German tendencies are obey-ing the edict of the United States Marshals not to talk about the war in public and to speak only the English tongue in public.

The four men arrested yesterday returned to their homes from Cedar Rapids last night, where they gave bond for their appearance before the Federal grand jury in October. They were warned if they repeated the offense they would be placed in jail during the war.

REPORTER DELAYS BOARD BY TRYING TO FIX MAN'S ORDER

Effort Made to Have Subject Named in Star Story as "The First"

Examined First.
The vehement efforts of Jeff Smith,
a reporter for the Star, to have a certain man examined first by the exemption board of the Seventh Ward held up the work of the physicians for more than half an hour yesterday.

H. C. Bridgeford, 28 years old, of 1913
Hickory street, was at the headquarters several hours before the time set for the examination. At noon Smith arrived and obtained a promise from Dr.
J. B. Chiles that Bridgeford would be examined first. Bridgeford is married and will claim exemption. Smith telephoned his paper that Bridgeford would be the first man examined.

In the meantime several other registrants had arrived, including Wesley Kitchen, 21 years old, of 1801A Chouteau avenue, who claimed no exemption.
The board decided it would be a good thing to start off with a man who was willing and qualified to serve in the army and voted to examine Kitchen first.

This was done despite the long reiterated protestations of Smith. At this stage an edition of the Star appeared with a story on the first appearing Bridgeford had been the first man in the city examined. The reporter sorrowfully went to the phone and told his office it was all a mistake.

The President's instructions, designed to bring Japanese ships into the Atlantic, were issued to the division of export licenses, and provide that no steel or iron products shall go to allied countries unless they are to be used for actual war purposes or will contribute directly to prosecution of the war.

Japan has been a large buyer of American ship plates and has been building up a great merchant fleet.
About 4 per cent of her tonnage is in the Atlantic and the remainder is carrying Pacific cargoes at extremely high rates.

Killed in Fall From Porch.
Charles S. Ege, 49 years old, of 3542 night from a second-story porch at his home. His skull was fractured. Ege lost his balance while on a chair that was tilted against the porch rail. His wife, Mrs. Anna Ege, resides at 315 East Town street, Columbus, O.

FRENCH DEPUTIES FOR PEACE ONLY WITH REPARATION

Reaffirm Declaration of June 5 for Liberation of Alsace-Lorraine.

PREMIER AGAIN VICTOR

Ballot Taken After Display Against Government, Chiefly by Socialists.

PARIS, Aug. 3.—There was another display against the Government during a peace debate in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, but Premier Ribot again came out victorious.

M. Renaudel, Socialist leader, in a speech maintained that a declaration of the entire allies' peace conditions and immediate steps to form a society of nations would force Germany to unmask her policy.

Premier Ribot, in reply, began with the question of peace, saying: "We wish peace, but peace sincere and honorable. What would peace made today be? We should renounce Alsace-Lorraine and be compelled ourselves to restore the destroyed provinces. Ruined France, which deserves to march at the head of civilization, would be allowed to live, but beside us would be the formidable bloc of the central empires, which would be the true masters. Alsace would be given to Belgium, we should be made slaves."

Victory must be won. We shall not forget that this will not be by discussion. We cannot believe that conferences can give it to us. The French Socialist party has refused to go to Stockholm to speak with the Germans."

M. Mistrat, Socialist member of the first Zimmerwald meeting, interrupted, shouting: "We shall go in spite of you." This caused a great uproar.

M. Ribot then resumed his speech, declaring that the German Socialists were only the German Emperor's mandarins. A further disturbance followed during which M. Compe-Morel, Socialist, declared that his friends would only discuss matters with the Germans when the question of responsibility was brought up. "We refuse to discuss matters with men like Philipp Scheidemann (the German Socialist leader)," he said. "We will never consent to put our hands in theirs."

When quiet was restored M. Ribot continued: "You are in agreement with me in wishing the establishment of a society of nations. We can wish it because it is in our interest, but do you think that exchanges of telegrams can result in such a society? Yes, we are working on this, but Germany would like sentences torn up as she has torn up treaties. I say, in the face of this, sudden eagerness to make an enemy showing for a society of nations is hypocrisy. We will only have peace when Germany has become free and democratic or we have crushed her power."

As Mr. Lloyd George, the British Premier, said, it belongs not to any one party to decide the conditions of peace.

Will Do as Chamber Desires

The Premier ended by saying he would do what the chamber desired. "I will retire or I will keep in power, but I shall work my best for our dear France," the Premier declared.

The speech, which had been interrupted by certain Socialists, was loudly applauded.

Closure was then voted on the various resolutions before the chamber, one of them by Deputy Glais, asking the chamber to condemn the vote of June 5, by which a resolution was adopted declaring that peace conditions must include the liberation of territories occupied by Germany, the return of Alsace-Lorraine to France and just reparation for damage done in the invaded regions.

Priority was given to the Klotz resolution over that of M. Renaudel, by a vote of 386 to 72, after which the chamber passed the Klotz resolution by a vote of 386 to 72.

GERMANS FINE LIEGE $100,000

City Alleged to Have Disobeyed Orders for Demolishing of Buildings

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 3.—According to the Echo de Belge, the city of Liege has been fined $100,000 for disobeying an order given by the German authorities to demolish buildings damaged by fire on the Quai des Pecheurs.

Liege, capital of the Walloon district, is the Belgian city which offered such determined resistance to the Germans at the outbreak of the war, when they invaded Belgium for the purpose of avoiding the French forts from Verdun to Belfort and of outflanking the French northern and eastern armies. The 13 forts of Liege were repeatedly attacked by the Germans in massed formations from Aug. 4 until Aug. 12, when they finally were reduced by great 14-inch howitzers. The Quai des Pecheurs sits the right bank of the River Meuse, which flows through the center of the town.

STORM DAMAGES GERMAN CROPS

Cereal Crops Beaten Down, Fruit Trees Turn Up, Gardens Suffer.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 3.—The frontier correspondent of the Handelsblad reports that the vegetable crop in Germany is a great disappointment.

A hurricane on Sunday did great damage to the whole of Western Germany. Many buildings were destroyed. Thousands of trees were uprooted. Field and garden produce everywhere suffered enormously. Cereal crops were beaten down and destroyed. Fruit trees were

CHARGES SENATE PROHIBITION RESOLUTION CONTAINS "JOKER"

California Congressman Attacks Provision That "Saves" Man's Right to Life

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Representative Randall of California, the only prohibition member of Congress, issued a statement yesterday declaring that "the friends of national prohibition have been flummied by the liquor lobby in the constitutional amendment adopted in the Senate." He added that "a great jollification" was held by liquor representatives in a Washington hotel Wednesday night and that a well-dressed rumor had sprung up that the six-year clause added on Senator Harding's motion was really written by the brewers' attorneys.

"The joker is not in the six-year handicap itself," said Randall, "though that is without precedent in history. The Harding clause provides that 'this section shall be inoperative unless ratified within six years.' The impression is that the prohibition amendment would not become part of the Constitution unless so ratified. The fact is it will be operative after the time limit, but will be inoperative. This promises long years of litigation. The whole campaign to secure ratification by the states will be clouded by this uncertain language."

"The duty of the House of Representatives is clear. Throw out the Harding clause entirely."

Doctor Says Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate People 100% in Ten Days

In many instances—Persons have suffered untold agony for years doctoring for nervous weakness, stomach, liver or kidney disease or some other ailment when their real trouble was lack of iron in the blood—How to tell.

New York, N. Y.—In a recent discourse, Dr. R. B. Baker, of Boston, physician, and in great European medical institutions, said: "If you wish to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for the other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied all their nervous and dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood is thin and weak and therefore nothing you eat does you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the corn is not ground. As a result of this thin blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weakened, nervous and all run down and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. On the other hand, another is burdened with unhealthy fat, some are weak they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble, some can't sleep at night, others are sleepy and tired all day, some faint and irritable; some skinny, some stout, but all lack physical power and endurance. In such cases, it is worse than useless to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs which only whip up your fading vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what you do, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times a day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again. You will find yourself better than you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who are eating and drinking and who are still ill. You can tell as you please about all the wonders wrought by Nuxated Iron. You can tell as you please about the old forms of inorganic iron, like tincture of iron, iron acetate, etc., which ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated, and more harm than good. But with the discovery of the new form of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron, for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth and is almost immediately beneficial."

NOTE.—The manufacturers of Nuxated Iron have such unbounded confidence in its potency that they guarantee the refund of the money if they fail to cure any Charitable Institution if they cannot take any more or women under sixty who lack iron and increase their strength for their own or their children's health. This is a guarantee which Nuxated Iron does not at least double your strength in ten days. It is dispensed in this city by Judges & Druggists, 1000 N. 1st St., St. Louis, Mo. C. Johnson-Enders-Pearley Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo., and all other drug stores.

NOTE BY DRAFT BOARD IS RESENTED BY SENATOR KINNEY

Declares Request That Applicants Be Examined Before Appearing in an Insult to Constituents.

Senator Michael Kinney of the Thirty-first district, in which the Fifth Ward of St. Louis is located, expressed his resentment today of a stamped request made by Lyman T. Hay, chairman of the Exemption Board of that ward on the notification cards that registrants take a bath before coming to the board headquarters for physical examination. Senator Kinney gave out this statement:

"My attention has been called to an order by Lyman T. Hay directed to men of the Fifth Ward subject to the draft on the part of our Government to report at the Jefferson Hotel for examination and ordering the applicant to take a bath before presenting himself."

"As a resident of the Fifth Ward during my entire life, I have learned to esteem and love the people of this district, and I accordingly voice my protest to the affront and insult offered by such an order, coming as it does without warrant or authority."

"I can say for the people of the Fifth Ward that in them the Government will find men of clean heart and soul, whose loyalty is unquestionable and whose devotion to friend and country is most dependable."

"The fight for democracy is world-wide, and surely the action of Mr. Hay in this connection should not go by unchallenged."

"I have the honor to be the associate of the people of the Fifth Ward, and I accordingly voice my protest to the action of Lyman T. Hay."

40 RECRUITS OBTAINED BY HOME GUARD PARADE

Several Prominent Men Enlist on Third Day of the Campaign.

Recruiting for the Second Regiment of Missouri Home Guards was continued, with the customary parade held at noon today. Several prominent St. Louisans are included in the early recruits for the regiment. Eugene McQuinn, 1325 East-north-west, former Circuit Court Judge, also formerly a member of the State Public Service Commission, enlisted as a private. Thomas S. Maffitt, 4330 Lindell boulevard, vice president of the Mississippi Valley Iron Co. and former Police Commissioner, was among the early recruits. James Porter Blake, 5531 Von Yversee avenue, real estate man, also enlisted. Robert E. Lee, 2315 Allen avenue, aged 48 years, will be a member of the new Second. Another Robert E. Lee is the Captain of the Advertising Club company.

The parade today noon formed at the city hall, headed by mounted police and Gen. E. J. Spencer, Col. Philip P. Fouke and the military staff and Seymour's Military Band.

The Home Guard Committee is planning to hold a women's parade next week, consisting of the Women's Drum Corps of the Famous & Barr Co. and the Women's "Cavalry" Marching Club.

Chairman Richard S. Hayes announced today that the Home Guard Committee would hold a meeting this afternoon at the Bokey Club to hear a report from Attorney-General McCallister on the ruling of the War Department as to guns and suits.

Joseph B. Barroll, chairman of the Citizens' Committee of 25, this morning sent out a call for a meeting on transportation to be held Monday at 2 p. m. This call was sent to many of the large firms asking them to offer motor trucks to transport the guards in case of emergency. The first paragraph of the call reads: "The Home Guards must have means for quick transportation in case of emergency, so it has been decided to call on motor truck owners to agree to put part of their equipment at the disposal of the Motor Truck Co. for emergency use. Only one truck will be called for from each owner."

Abbott E. Smith, president of the Way-Cleanse, this morning offered the use of their second car, a 35-27 South Fourteenth street for use of the Home Guards, also the use of ground floor space for auto trucks, the service of four experienced auto truck drivers and four helpers.

Forty recruits were received at enlisting headquarters, 701 Locust street, yesterday afternoon, following the parade. This is the largest single number secured as the result of the three-day campaign.

The Associated Press News Service is received and printed exclusively by the Post-Dispatch in the St. Louis evening field.

U.S. Aviator, Shot, Falls 2 Miles and Writes About It

Corporal Hall of Lafayette Escadrille Describes His Battle With German Air Squadron—Said "Goodbye to Life," but Fell in French Lines.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—A letter received from James Norman Hall, Corporal in the Lafayette Escadrille, who was wounded and brought down in a fight with half a dozen Germans, has been forwarded to the New York Times by George C. Greener, director of the North Bennett Street Industrial School of Boston. This is, so far as is known, the first word received in this country from Corp. Hall since he was shot, and indicates that he probably will be in active service again before the end of August.

It gives further a remarkable picture of the tactics of aerial scouting and fighting and an account of the psychological impression of many of the experiences of aviators in action.

"Hall is an Iowa man who enlisted in the British army in London in August of 1914 and served with the forces for a year and a half. He obtained his discharge because of personal affairs, which necessitated his return to the United States, and as soon as possible he went back and enlisted in the Lafayette Escadrille. He is well known as the author of a war book, 'Kitchen's Mob,' and a number of magazine articles, and many inquiries as to his condition have been received by his friends from all over the country.

"About two weeks ago I started to write a letter to you," Corp. Hall writes. "I spent an entire afternoon upon it and wrote a detailed history of the life at the front of the Escadrille American. Alas! the letter was not finished. I had to put it aside to go out on patrol with the rest of the fellows, and while I was out I met a whole nest of Germans, got shot through the shoulder, and am now in hospital, out of action for at least six weeks to come.

"It all happened on June 26—or was it the 25th? Twelve of us went out at 7:30 p. m. and were to patrol the line until 9:15. We were to have a rendezvous over Soissons at 10:00 feet and then to divide into two groups of six machines each, one patrol going to one section of our front and one to another. As often happens, the patrols got scattered. It is very difficult to keep together, for our machines are so fast, and we must keep turning and twisting all of the time when over the lines on account of the anti-aircraft guns. I lost my patrol and so kept on by myself, knowing that I would find them again sooner or later, as we had a particular, well-defined sector to cover.

"The archies" were keeping me awfully busy. I had never had them burst so close to me before, nor so many of them at once. They bark when they are near, a sort of 'woof, woof, woof,' which you hear quite plainly above the roar of your motor, and the concussion tips your machine up and down in a very uncomfortable manner. I was between 11,000 and 12,000 feet up, and yet those German gunners were planting them awfully close! They've got their work down to a science. By Jove, but they shoot well! However, in a machine that travels at 125 miles an hour you simply laugh at archies—until one hits you.
"The trenches are a wonderful sight from the air, particularly during an attack. You see more of the detailed action, of course, and hear nothing. But you can see for miles an miles the long brown strip of ground that makes the firing line, and the flashes of the guns and the shell bursts. There is a tremendous fascination in seeing all this from an altitude of two miles, and to me—moving, as I do, what it is like to hug the parapet under heavy shell fire is a horror in the sight as well. I went ar down the line, so far that I could see Rheims and the tower of the cathedral; then I came back, keeping a sharp lookout all of the time, tilting my machine first on one side, then on the other, and whirling around like a cat trying to catch its own tail. One of the greatest dangers in the air is that of being pounced on by surprise. You hear nothing but the roar of your own motor and so keep twisting and turning on your own track constantly.

Saw German Machines

"Finally I saw six or seven machines about five kilometers back of the German lines. I couldn't distinguish whether they were French or German and decided to go over closer to have a look. The sky was marvelous clear, and it was a pretty sight to see them playing about in the air just like a school of fish in bright blue water. They looked so harmless and inoffensive in the distance, so over I went, bold navigator that I was! I got pretty close before they saw me, or at least before I knew that they saw me, and at that moment I realized that I was in for it. They were all German machines! One of them was just at my altitude. He was nearest to me. The others were about 1500 feet higher and some little distance further off.

"They all started for me. The nearest German and I opened fire about at the same instant. We passed each other like the wind, and not more than 75 meters distant. Then my machine began to get peppered and I felt a smack in the shoulder as though some one had hit me with a club. It numbed my left side and arm and made me feel lousy, so that I lost control of my machine and it dived straight down with the motor full on. You can imagine the speed. I felt a deuce of a way before I could get the motor shut off. It straightened out again, but had fallen so fast that it was barely conscious. "I started to fall again and said 'good-bye to life,' for I thought I was a goner. But I made a great effort and straightened out again when only about 600 feet above ground. I thought to myself, 'Now if I can only hold on to my wits until I land.' Then everything went black, and I didn't remember another thing until I was on a stretcher being carried over some trenches by a couple of fellows. Believe me, it was a relief to see those blue uniforms, to know that I was in the hands of friends. As it was, I fell right in a first line trench, not 300 meters away from the German line. Wasn't that luck? My machine was badly smashed, for, as I have said, it landed itself, without any except sub-conscious help from me, but I have nothing except bruises, nothing broken except skin! It is really a miracle that I wasn't killed in the fall.

"They dressed my shoulder at a poste de secours in the trenches, and then I had a long and very painful ride on a two-wheeled stretcher cart. The Germans were shelling the French lines pretty hard, and without doing any harm I thought we would never reach the ambulance. A big shell struck an ammunition dump in a ruined village shortly before we reached it. They took me through on the run. The whole place was in flames. I won't soon forget the sight. It was about 10 o'clock then, but the flames lit up all the desolate region for hundreds of yards.

PEACE MOVE THROUGH STONE IS A SURPRISE

Missourian Acts for Pacifist Group of Which Roger N. Baldwin Is Member.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, caused surprise yesterday afternoon when he presented to the Senate the peace petition which was forwarded to him recently by a group of pacifists, including Roger N. Baldwin, former secretary of the Civic League of St. Louis. This petition contains a resolution which says:

"That the Congress of the United States call upon the Parliament of England, France, Italy and our other allies which, since the entrance into the war of the two great republics, Russia and America, have given no indication of the terms upon which they would make peace, to adopt resolutions expressing their willingness to enter into peace negotiations with the Russian formula as a basis."

The petition was signed by Amos Pinchot, Lillian L. Wald, Max Eastman, L. Hollingsworth Wood of the Society of Friends, the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Norman Thomas, Roger N. Baldwin, Alice Levinson, Charles T. Hallinan, Crystal Eastman and Dr. Lovejoy Elliott.

In introducing the letter and resolution Senator Stone said he just wanted "to say a word about this now." "The communication comes to me in an official way as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. As it comes from citizens of undoubted respectable character and responsibility, I thought it proper to submit it to the Senate. I will make no observations concerning it at this time, but will ask that it lie on the table, and I hope I will find time to discuss it more fully next week."

Powdered Glass in Bandage Cotton.
DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 3.—Powdered glass was discovered in a bolt of "bandage" cotton delivered at Duluth Red Cross headquarters. The glass was found spread between the folds of the cotton by Mrs. W. H. Cole, supervisor of the surgical dressing department. The cotton, made in an Eastern factory, was purchased from a Duluth wholesale house, which has begun an investigation.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS CASES NOT WIDESPREAD

Outbreaks in Vermont and Other Places Considered Purely Local.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—State and Federal health authorities see no indication in the recent outbreak of infantile paralysis in Vermont, of any extensive spread of the disease throughout the country this summer. Already the conditions in Vermont, where 31 cases were reported up to July 31, are said to be improving.

With the exception of five localities of small area, of which Eastern Vermont is one, there have been only sporadic cases. The United States Public Health Service reports that even those sections where there have been epidemics have experienced the disease in only a "mild degree."

Thirteen cases have been reported from Allegheny County, Md., 21 cases from Rockingham County, Va., 19 cases from four counties in West Virginia and 15 cases from Ohio. New York City, which at this time last year had had nearly 300 cases, has had less than 100 this year. The number reported have averaged 6 a week since July 1 and these have been so widely scattered that they are pronounced "not epidemic."

Up to July 27 sporadic cases had been reported as follows: Connecticut 4, one each at Bristol, Derby, Thompson and Westhaven; Massachusetts 9, at Groveland, 1 at Hadly, 1 at Groton, 2 at Haverhill and 1 each at Lowell and Malden. The latest report of the Government for New Jersey shows 15 cases for June, widely distributed.

Doctors of the United States Public Health Service said that the figures would speak for themselves. They said that they were more concerned over cerebro-spinal meningitis, 45 cases of which have been reported from Massachusetts. Epidemics of this disease have usually been more serious than those of poliomyelitis.

MAIL FOR SOLDIERS ABROAD

The Postmaster-General will ask Congress to grant troops free transportation for letters sent home.

Two West End Homes Robbed.

CHARLES FLEISCHMANN KILLED IN FALL OF HYDROPLANE

Multimillionaire's Son, Whose Engagement Had Just Been Announced, Hoped to Enter Air School.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Charles Fleischmann, son of Julius L. Fleischmann, multimillionaire yeast manufacturer of Cincinnati, was killed at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when a hydroplane, owned and driven by Harry Witts of Bay Shore, L. I., fell into the waters of Great South Bay between Bay Shore and Salt Lake, Fire Island. Witts also was killed. Fleischmann's engagement to Miss Florence McGreggor Sheldon of Brooklyn was announced last Sunday.

Fleischmann, 24 years old, had left New London, Conn., Monday, where he and his fiancée had been visiting Julius L. Fleischmann, and had gone to the training station at Bay Shore.

Fleischmann had not been admitted to the school regularly, army officers said, but hoped to be. He had engaged Witts to take him up at intervals. Witts had often given instruction to student aviators. His fiancée was not far from the three housing the Government machines.

Neither Fleischmann nor Witts was strapped in. A few minutes after the machine rose, the plane tipped and pitched into the bay and went out of sight in five feet of water. Half an hour later Fleischmann's body was found. Witts' body was found later.

STEAMSHIPS.

A Week's Cruise—Over 2200 mile trip on 4 Lakes

$50 Meals & Berth Included on the Big, New Cruising Ship

North American

It is a trip that will suit the tastes of everybody. If you enjoy seeing places and things, the numerous stops and the short cruising distance from the shore during the greater part of the trip will fulfill your wishes. If you enjoy having a gay time there is the continual play of deck games, cards, etc., during the day and dances and amusements during the evening. Or perhaps you want to do a little fishing, or take a tramp in the woods. Stop-over privileges at a number of points will enable you to do this.

Combined with all these pleasures, the meals and rooms are right. Dining service is the best a Master Steward and Chef can produce. All staterooms and parlor rooms are outside rooms and have regulation size windows or ports to insure perfect ventilation. Then there is running water in each stateroom and parlor room—beds have the finest mattresses and springs, extra long and extra large, a bath either connecting or close by.

The Steamship "North American" leaves Chicago every Saturday at 1:30 P. M., traveling through Lake Michigan directly to Mackinac Island, where she stops long enough to enable you to drive around the island and visit the historical points of interest. Leaving Mackinac Island she enters St. Mary's River, noted for its wonderful scenic features, and stops at Sault Ste. Marie. Here you pass through the big canal and locks, next to the largest in the world. Watching the big ships raised and lowered through the locks is a wonderful sight—a sight that will long be remembered.

Leaving there you enter Lake Superior and head for Fort William. You pass Isle Royale and eight Thunder Cape rising to a height of 1600 feet on the way. At Fort William are the immense grain elevators that hold the big grain crops of Canada, and you have the opportunity of visiting Isle Royale with its many enchanting small islands.

The next stop is Duluth. Here you will find many attractive features. There is the boulevard drive along the crest of her mighty hill, seven miles of driveway, four hundred feet above the lake. After spending several hours here, the return through Sault Ste. Marie into Lake Huron is made and the next stop is at Pontiac the gateway to the 30,000 islands. From there over to Owen Sound and then directly to Mackinac Island and Chicago, arriving home Saturday morning—a week's vacation that brings you back rested and feeling fine.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

JOSEPH PULITZER.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

War Taxation.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
There is a proposition now before the United States Senate to guarantee to business men against taxation such portions of their 1917 profits as are equal to the average of the profits earned by them during the years 1911, 1912 and 1913, or such amounts as may not exceed $5000.

May I respectfully inquire whether the Government has under consideration any plan whereby the men who are going to the front shall be guaranteed a home coming in the same condition in which they left our shores, and with as much money in their pockets as they would have earned if there had not been any war, and whether provision has been made that a considerable number of them shall earn up to $5000 for the year? If the Government has no such plan in contemplation, then the proposed excess profits tax (or exempt profits tax) is something that is not in line with present day progress and ideals.

There should be no exemptions in the war tax, either on account of past profits or on account of capital, or in any fixed amount. A straight tax should be levied on all of the profits earned by everybody in business at the present time, to whatever amount is required by the Government to finance the war and win it. Every American enterprise should share in the fund—no part of any profit should be exempt—and every business man, large or small, who does not go to the front should be made to feel that he has a money stake in the war.

The enactment of an excess profits law will also, I believe, bring about two economic disturbances of grave importance: First, it will throw the great burden of the taxation on those who are not exempted to a considerable degree, and whether their profits are due to the war or not, they will be unable to function if they must give up in cash a considerable portion of their profits.

Secondly, the bill may fall of its major objective to collect the amount of revenue required to carry on the war. It is a considerable number of enterprises are either defeated or discouraged by the legislation; if for want of sufficient cash they must curtail their operations, then the total profits will be reduced, and the total amount of taxes collected will correspondingly fall, and if the production of the country is materially lessened, our armies and those of our allies will face almost certain defeat.

No method of taxation that can be devised will apply with equal justice to every situation, but that method should be applied which will in the least degree discourage the production of the country, and which, consequently, can be made to yield the greatest amount of revenue in the form of taxes.

That method is a straight tax on all profits. Such a tax can be easily and economically administered—the savings, as compared with the intricate Senate proposal, would go far toward keeping an army corps in the field.

MARTIN LEVY.

New York City

Restitution Before Parole.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Mr. E. M. Hale, a victim of A. H. Friedrick to the extent of $3000, in a letter published today gets at the heart of the matter. He says: "The amount was obtained by miserable misrepresentation and forgery, and no effort has ever been made to right the wrong."

Let the bankers and others of wealth who are appealing for Frederick's parole first make it sufficient to reimburse his victims for their losses and the parole question would be greatly simplified.

W. H. WILLIAMS.

AUTOCRACY'S TWILIGHT.

"German blood and German zeal are not being gambled with for an empty shadow of ambition or schemes of conquest and subjugation, but in defense of a strong, free empire in which our children may live in security," says the Kaiser in a fervent appeal to the German people to stand by him and his army.

Chancellor Michaelis assures the people that when the Emperor returns from the front he will push internal reforms which the people are demanding.

The Kaiser is beginning to see the light. Imperial ambitions are fading under heavy disappointments on land and sea. The schemes of conquest and subjugation do not seem so alluring in the twilight of military autocracy. He must do something to satisfy the people who under unendurable miseries and burdens are beginning to question the motives and methods of their masters.

He assures them that they are not being exploited for the glory of the Hohenzollerns and the gain of junkerdom. He assures them that the freedom for which they yearn will be doled out to them and the voice in the Government they seek will be theirs—some time.

Why does the Kaiser shift from imperial proclamations to fervent appeals, from boasts to pleas and promises?

The shadow of the giant republic of the West is falling over his throne. He knows that through America's entrance into war he stands indicted before the bar of world opinion as the enemy of mankind, a pariah among Governments. He knows he must soon meet the giant, fresh and vigorous, armed and powerful and must answer to him for his crimes of oppression and inhumanity. He knows that he is not dealing now with little Belgium, weak Serbia, rash and feeble Rumania or distracted and faction-torn Russia. He knows that he is dealing with the strongest, most energetic, most resourceful people in the world. He knows he is dealing with determined freemen who have never known defeat.

Our speedy, large preparation on all lines of warfare—on sea, on land and in the air—has convinced the Kaiser and his political and military lieutenants that we mean business and that within a year his war-worn, sadly thinned armies will have to meet a great force of Americans continually augmented by fresh reserves from a 10,000,000 draft. Already his submarines have to contend with American warships, which have just begun operations. Already the machines are humming in the manufacture of a huge fleet of airplanes, and the aviation fields are training thousands of aviators.

Not only has our entrance into the war assured victory, but our rapid, vast preparations and our vigorous prosecution of war hasten peace.

A 100 PER CENT FAMILY.

In Marine, Ill., there's a 100 per cent family. Heim is the name. The three sons have gone to the war and the father is trying to go. He may not get in, but the service of three sons, plus the father's eagerness to serve, entitles the family to a perfect score.

L. C. Heim is a country editor, 42 years old. His sons are 18, 19 and 21 years of age. One is carrying a gun in the First Regiment, another is playing in the First Regiment Band. The third is in the hospital corps. He wanted to carry a gun, too, but when he tried to get into the First they discovered the lead slug he had put in his shoes to offset the wastage of a recent illness and turned him down. But the navy took him.

The father's only chance was to get in the Officers' Reserve Corps. He passed the examination, but he has not been called and he is afraid he will not get to join the boys at the front.

The next question is, who will get the paper out if the editor goes away? Well, let nobody worry about the paper. It will go to press as usual. Mrs. Heim will attend to that. She will do more than keep the home fires burning for the four men she has sent to the battle line. "The Mrs. Heim will keep the paper going," says Editor Heim. There's no discount on the Heim family of Marine.

PALESTINE AN AMERICAN DEPENDENCY.
Suggestions as to what shall be done with Palestine after the war may look ahead to conditions as yet undetermined and to dates that may still be rather remote in the future. But if this particular bridge is not to be crossed until it is come to, discussions as to how it is to be crossed may not be unprofitable.

The jealousies among the various churches and nations which have assumed guardianship over certain of the holy places of Palestine have long been a scandal. All the efforts of the cynical Turkish gendarmerie have been unavailing to prevent furious clashes during some of the great Christian festivals. The war is expected, of course, to bring a better spirit to the world, but supposing that some of the ecclesiastical and racial rivalries over privileges at consecrated spots should survive.

It claims to the possession of particular places closely associated with the beginnings of Christianity give rise to strife, what dangerous differences might not arise over the possession of the whole country? It has been predicted that the adjustments after the war would cause difficulties as great as any encountered during the conflict and Russia already seems in sharp disagreement with Western Europe over the question. Wide variations in the domestic sentiment on the subject are observed within the allied countries.

The suggestion that Palestine shall be administered under American supervision is advanced early and Christendom may become habituated to it in time. It would give this coveted little strip of the planet to the country in which religious toleration has made the greatest progress and the one country which will engage in no scramble over territory and indemnities, for it wants neither territory nor indemnity.

Circumstances might be created under which America would undertake this great responsibility in the conviction that it was performing a service for world peace.

SENATOR STONE IS A MENACE.
Senator Stone again demonstrates that his retention in the chairmanship of the Foreign Relations Committee is a menace to the nation by starting a discussion of peace on the basis of the German Reichstag's resolution.

With Germany in control of a triumphant and insolent military autocracy, no peace can be made that would not be a mere truce, preparatory to another war. It would be a peace which ignored the fundamental issue upon which we entered the war.

Opening a discussion of peace, therefore, at the time when we are just beginning to fight and on a basis of ignoring all for which we are fighting indicates shameful weakness. It is a form of treason. It embarrasses and hampers the administration in the conduct of the war and contributes to the postponement of any kind of peace.

What the persistent advocates of peace in Great Britain and the United States are incapable of understanding is that if this war is not fought to a finish and does not result in a free Germany, there can be no real peace for anybody in the world. While the existing German system remains, no Government can hereafter rely upon German pledges or German treaties. All the democratic nations will have to put themselves upon a military basis and keep themselves armed to the teeth. They will be obliged to make their preparations for war such that their armies and navies will be ready at 24 hours' notice, and civilization at peace will be subjected to a burden of military taxes hardly less formidable than civilization at war. Any kind of peace that enables Prussianism to maintain itself at home is a victory for German autocracy. The Kaiser sees it clearly enough, even if there are Americans and Englishmen and Frenchmen who are blind to the vital facts of the war.

As for Senator Stone, in his muddled state of mind and morals, he should be placed where his capacity for harm will be minimized. He ought by all means to be removed from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and if he were out of the Senate the country would be better off. If there were a senatorial recall, Gurnshaw Bill's term of disservice would be short.

THE DEBASED IRON CROSS.

A witty Mississippian who became a national figure decided, after the Civil War, there were so many Generals, Colonels, Majors and Captains all around him that the ideal way to distinguish himself was to have everybody call him Private. In Germany they have given away so many Iron crosses since the war began that pretty soon the only way to be conspicuous over there will be to appear without this decoration.

Already two and a quarter millions of them have been distributed. Intended as a reward for conspicuous gallantry, 3660 have been awarded to men who were conspicuous clerks or conspicuous Quartermasters or conspicuous stokers but who had never smelled powder burnt in battle.

There is complaint that the thing has been overdone so much that the value of the cross has been debased. It is not that, however, which has irretrievably tarnished the badge which was the glory of the soldiers of 1871. It has been given to the submarine baby-killers who sank the Lusitania and to the airplane raiders who dropped bombs upon the defenseless women and children of London.

Once the stain of a cowardly or dishonorable action attaches to any emblem of honor and courage there is no way by which it can be further debased.

German newspapers are beginning to admit that the United States is likely to become a great factor in the war. The alarm clock is striking again.

THE RIGHT TO PRACTICE.

It is unlikely that the law can rescue that South Side woman who is annoyed by the racket made by a neighbor who is learning to play a horn, but public sympathy for her is widespread and generous. For who among us cannot say, "We, too, have suffered!"

The legal matters involved are difficult and intricate. It is manifest that the neighbor has a right to inhale the air in his own house and exhale it as violently as he pleases, whether into a brass mouthpiece or otherwise. It is likewise apparent that no one has an inherent right to disturb the public peace. There is, however, a further complication. It would be against public policy to suppress musicians and there is bound to be much apprentice tooling before anybody can bring music out of a cornet or a trombone.

Who would care to live in a cornetless world? Who would give a rush about hearing a band play "Oh, Johnny"? If the comp-pah-pah of the trombone were missing? And how shall one camp in unison without having combed loud and long in practice?

It might be argued that beginners should be required to find some vast wilderness in which to practice, but where shall one find a 100-acre trackless waste for each tyro? A municipally owned practice field would not work, because there would be so many clashes in temperament among unequally armed beginners. What show would the man with a featherweight bugle have against a thoroughly enraged tuba player.

The best advice to the South Side lady would be to restrain all murderous impulses and be patient. Maybe someday her neighbor will have learned enough to get a job in an orchestra. She can get revenge by attending a concert and applauding nobody but the fiddler.

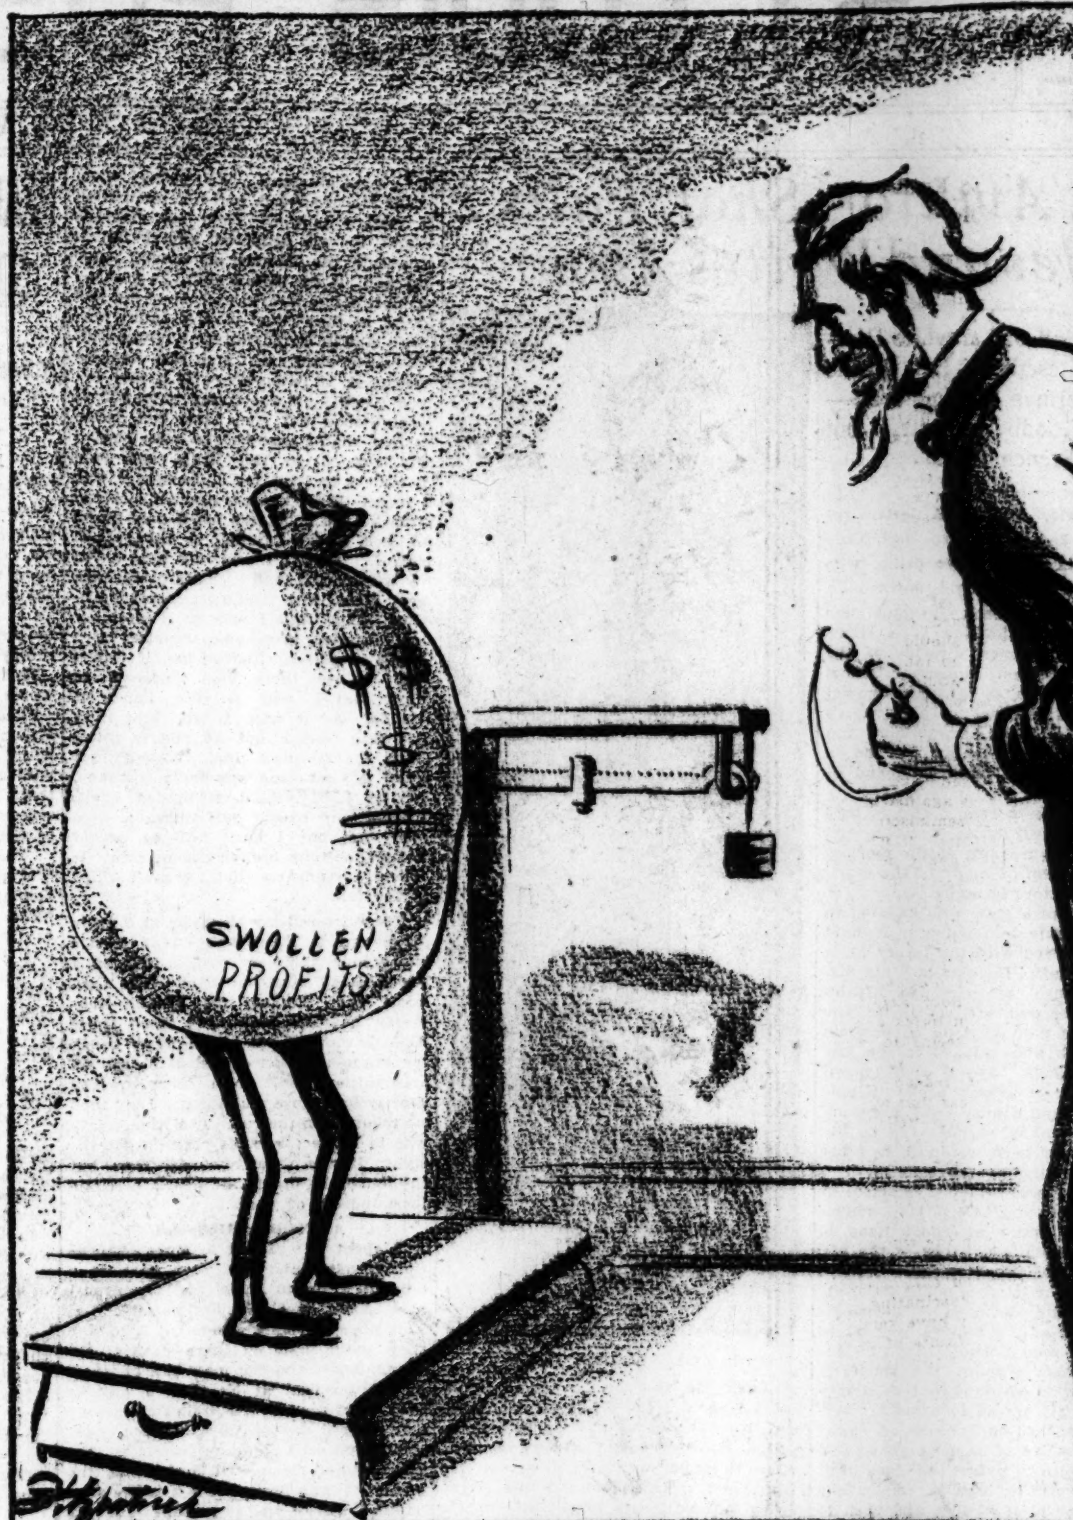

ST. LOUIS HOSPITALITY.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

"Large enough to serve any—strong enough to protect all"—is a slogan which a St. Louis bank recently paid $1000 to the man who proposed it.

The saying just seems appropriate: applicable to the city of St. Louis itself, as it is being made a place of refuge for hundreds, and possibly thousands, of people whose presence is objectionable to certain elements in neighboring places.

Some cities, as well as some countries, are designated places to be "taken." But St. Louis, in the classic language of a certain American statesman, seems to be a good place to be "at."

"ACCEPTED!"

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH
by Clark McAdams

HELLO, GIRLS!

WHY shouldn't women, prithee, do some of the work of men?
The women went to the parlor once, but now they're back again.

The women sat in their rocking chairs to talk of this and that—

The chatter of the neighborhood, the fashion of a hat. The women were such dainty things in silken boots and pearls;

But now they are coming back again.

Hallo, girls!

We all but thought the women folk beyond our mortal lot;

We quite forgot the Amazons, the arrows that they shot;

We quite forgot the olden days that saw them side by side,

The cave man and the cave wife, the savage and his bride.

The women were so soft and white in furbelows and curls;

But now they're coming back again.

Hallo, girls!

Before man made a pet of her, the woman was his mate;

She fought the fight her husband fought, and ate the food he ate.

She wasn't much for fashion then, for furbles and for teas,

And sometimes man thanked God for her, right down upon his knees.

The women are not what they were, but now the Prussian hurls

His bolts, they're coming back again.

Hallo, girls!

Now, why shouldn't women help us? They will, as sure as fate;

They only had to find themselves, and ours was but to wait.

They only have to moult a bit, those birds of Paradise,

And we shall have them back again with lightning in their eyes.

The women were so beautiful, but now the Kaiser whirls

His sword, they're coming back again.

Hallo, girls!

The New Republic is disposed to despair of the Russians, but some of the rest of us will cling to them a little bit longer. The Russians are too numerous and too badly needed just where they are for real faith in democracy to give them up now. It seems today that they are coming about, and there is a probability that within another week they will have the Teutons skedaddling for the Carpathians. They are not one of our staunch allies, but they are the most resilient. However, the world is not to be made safe for democracy without causing a whole lot of chills and fever among those who, like the New Republic, are weak in faith. The Kaiser ought to inspire people of that sort with a little more courage. Just think of it! The Kaiser has been pinning his faith from the very beginning on God, who is much too busy keeping the planets from touching and the great processes of nature working to know that we are having a war.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS.

FTER two weeks of wide-awake policing, in which hundreds of drivers have been arrested, we have it clearly established that automobile accidents are for the most part the fault of the joy-walking pedestrian.

We are today virtually without automobile accidents. They have been reduced to a minimum. Thanks to the crusade which renders the driver watchful, the reckless pedestrian is no longer able to hit the automobile unexpectedly, and for ten days now nobody's car has been walked down and trampled under foot.

Good! The right of the people to ride in automobiles and thus refresh themselves through the heated term is at once precious and unquestioned. It must be guaranteed at all hazards. Moreover, the automobile is a tremendous factor in modern economy. It saves money and time.

The pedestrian is of no economic value so far as we know, and his rights derive from tradition rather than from justice. He must be curbed. The streets must be made safe for automobiles.

We are indebted to the police for the revelation of where the fault lies, and we look to them to make the remedy stick.

IN SIGNS.

In Tunbridge, Vt., the writer saw the following sign on a farmer's barn near the public highway not long since.

L. H. M.

Horses baited here

The following from the advertisement of a merchant on Franklin avenue indicates that he has the time payment problem solved:

30 days credit on time payment only, and the goods stay on the place.

A St. Louis want ad:

ANVIL—Wid., Blacksmith, about 200 lbs.; must be in good condition and cheap.

In East St. Louis:

Shoes half sold while you wait

A large Kansas City sign:

Hotel Cosby

Caters to the Moral People

Whether the traveler is to infer that this is unusual, or is not the custom with first-class hotels in and out of Kansas City, or what the San Hill one's conclusion should be, our sign hunter doesn't know. Nor do we.

Rare opportunity on Garrison avenue:

Old clothes exchanged for new

If this is a popularity contest, the Russians have much the best chance to win it.

What the Kaiser would much better be doing is to hold a war council with God.

(2) Strap bust down with towels and use a firm net brassiere during the day. Reduce amount of fatty rich liquids, soups and broths taken into the body. (Rub as of peppermint on warts.)

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

KOEHLER.—Bread must always be allowed to get perfectly cold after baking before it is put away, or it is liable to become moldy and sour. Whole wheat flour contains the wheat germ and in consequence does not keep so well. The very vitalizing quality of the flour makes it less stable. In the parts of the wheat berry ordinarily bolted out are the vitamins, as necessary for continued health, the phosphates, and the mineral salts which are the human body, a considerable part of the proteins, most of the fats, and some of the carbohydrates. The very ingredients which are the berry most needed for health are lost into by-products and sold to farmers as food for cattle and hogs. U. S. Public Health Service issued a bulletin on this subject in 1914. One who reads the bulletin will understand why many Americans are constipated, weak, pasty and anemic.

OLD.—The great St. Louis fur house of Funtun Bros. Co. thus answers your queries: Wool and fur are excellent occupations for a young man to take up. Good fur graders and wool graders are always in demand. An expert fur grader can command a salary of $100 to $150 per week during the fur season. The best way to learn this business is to secure a position in the grading department of a large fur and wool house and work a way up. Position can be secured at almost any fur and wool house in St. Louis at certain seasons of the year. The fur houses usually start employing men about November 1.

W. L.—Ice-cold water sprinkled upon cabbage plants in heat of day when infested by cabbage worms is said to be sure death. Hand picking is slow, yet is generally effective in reducing insects, especially when cabbage plants are small. Spraying with paris green. Arsenate of lead is preferable generally. It should be used at rate of about two or three pounds to be used to make spray adhere. To do this two or three pounds of resin soap is added. Where paris green is used half pound of lead of water is sufficient. A fairly safe practice is to sprinkle powdered arsenate in same way. When paris green is used should be mixed with dry air-slaked lime and dusted on while air is damp with dew.

HILLSBORO.—A sun dial has two parts: the stile, or gnomon, and the plate. The stile is a plate of metal, made parallel to the earth's axis, and pointing toward the pole. The plate is a horizontal plane, which may be of any hard substance and on which are marked the directions of the shadow for the several hours of the day, their halves, quarter, etc. The stile of a dial being parallel to the earth's axis, the shadow of the stile, which is a line, will indicate the hour of the day. The problem of constructing a dial resolves itself into the problem of ascertaining where the hour lines cut a given circle, with a view of the graduation of the dial plane. But even without a knowledge of trigonometry the principle may be readily understood from the following illustration: Suppose a hollow and transparent sphere, as of glass, to represent the earth; and suppose the equator divided into 24 equal parts by the meridians, one of them passing through a given place—say London. If the hour of 12 be marked at the equator, both on the sphere and on the plane, and the sphere and all the rest of the hours in order on the other meridians, those meridians will be the hour circles of London, because as the sun appears to move around the earth in 24 hours, it will pass from one meridian to another in an hour. Then, if the sphere has an equatorial axis, terminating in the poles, the shadow of the stile will fall in the course of a day, on every particular meridian and hour as the sun came to the plane of the sphere, those lines would show the hour lines of the dial. If at all other places on the same meridian as London. If the sphere was cut through the middle by a plane in the horizon of London, and if straight lines were drawn from the center of the plane to the poles where its circumference is cut off by the plane of the sphere, those lines would be the hour lines on a horizontal dial for London; for the shadow of the stile would fall upon each particular hour line of the dial when it fell upon the like hour circle of the sphere. Similarly, if we suppose the sphere cut by any other plane facing the meridian, the hour circles of the sphere will cut the plane in such a way as to show the hour lines on a spherical dial. In general, of any plane, whether it face the meridian or not. The positions on the sphere of the stile and the plane, and the calculated if you know the latitude of the place where the dial is to be used and the position of its plane relatively to the horizon and the meridian.

Dorothy Dix says

The Greatest Shock to Us Is to Know That We Are Growing Old.

PERHAPS the greatest shock that any of us ever get is when we first have it borne in upon us that to a cold and appraising public we seem old.

Of course we know that we have had more birthdays than we like to count. We realize, when we stop to think of it, that we are subject to rheumatic twinges, and that we have come to "favor" our left knee when we walk, and that we come down steps carefully one at a time instead of taking them by leaps and bounds, and that we have to be a little careful about our diet, and have others signs and symptoms that we call age in another.

But we still feel young and cherish the fatuous belief that we look young, and so it is a solar plexus blow when we realize that we have not escaped the common human doom, but have ourselves passed into the rear and yellow leaf.

THE chief reason that we so dread age is not because it brings the end of life in an appreciable distance, but because we are to pass into the class of those who are pensioners upon the good nature and forbearance of all with whom we come in contact. It is so terrible to be dependent upon the good nature of others, and interest are gone and who are endured either from a sense of duty or from a desire for graft.

Alas, after we are fifty the art of keeping young is a lost art, and we would do better if we devoted our energies and thoughts to studying the art of growing old gracefully.

We talk a great deal about the faults of the young and urge them to correct them, and about the pitfalls into which youth is liable to stumble and against which we warn.

But whoever speaks of the faults of age or the dangers into which it may plunge? Yet age has its faults no less than youth and is just as liable to fall into evil habits.

Old people excuse their weaknesses in themselves on the ground of age. Just as youth excuses its crimes in the same fashion. A boy must sow his wild oats says the drunken runder. Old people have a right to their ways, declare the fossils who make martyrs of their families and back out of progress. Neither excuse excuses but youth, at least, admits its fault, while age accounts its weakness unto itself for virtue.

Why then should we not guard ourselves against the temptations of age, even as we guarded ourselves against the temptations of youth? We might begin with the first temptation which is to be comfortable instead of smart in dress. It is so easy to degenerate into the stocking feet and no corsets state of ease at home, and from that the descent into the it-doesn't-matter-how-I-look-because-I'm-old habit, that makes so many elderly people look as if they

Low Cost of Living in Switzerland

ONE of the largest ribbon manufacturers in Basel, Switzerland, employing about 1000 men, women and children, has worked out a table of the minimum cost of living of laborers' families. This table was compiled for the purpose of knowing what pensions would have to be given laborers if, in case of a shortage of raw materials, factories were compelled to close.

This basis of cost of living has been accepted by the municipal authorities for use in case the laborers are compelled to seek Governmental aid under a long suspension of work. It is generally understood that the funds to meet their actual needs will be furnished by the employers and the Swiss Government. In arriving at these figures the amount and cost of only the cheapest necessary articles to sustain life and provide comfort were considered.

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By Helen Rowland.

NOTHING—not even an unimpressible man—can make a woman suffer like an unbearably hot!

The man who goes home early before marriage and lets you get your beauty sleep is usually the comforting sort who comes home early after marriage.

Alas, it seems as though a moment two people fall in love they begin to fall out! There is nothing quite so inimical to domestic happiness as that collection of vanity, suspicion, and tender feelings, entirely surrounded by selfishness, which most people call "love."

Matrimony is like that daily cold plunge; something which a bachelor always enthusiastically recommending to other people.

If any man really wants to know how a woman likes to be made love to, he has only to listen to the extravagant way in which she talks to her pet dog.

Of course, every woman wants to marry! If only in order to have somebody to open bottles, wrap bundles, check trunks, keep a reliable watch around the house get up at night and see what the noise is, and call her "little fool," so that it sounds just like a compliment.

A pessimist is one who looks on spring merely as the first step toward autumn, on love as a snare, marriage as a dispensation, ambition as a delusion, work as a bore, and life as a practical joke.

A man always feels that he has to make a mental diagnosis in order to know when he is really in love. But a woman knows that it is as easy to know when you are in love as to tell when you are really hungry, really tiring, or really being run over by a taxicab.

There is nothing like a crust of jealousy to drive the bark of love on the reefs.

There is no difference in the surprise and suddenness with which love and appendicitis attack you; the only difference is that after one attack of appendicitis your curiosity is completely satisfied.

Canning Fruits and Vegetables.

THE great secret of canning or preserving lies in complete sterilization. The air we breathe, the water we drink, all fruits and vegetables are teeming with minute forms of life which we call bacteria, or molds, or germs. These germs are practically the sole cause of decomposition or rotting. The exclusion of air from canned articles, which was formerly supposed to be so important in canning, is now considered unnecessary, provided the air is sterile or free from germs. The exclusion of air is necessary only because in excluding it we exclude the germ. In other words, air which has been sterilized or freed from germs by heat or mechanical means can be used continuously over the canned articles without affecting them.

Germs which cause decay may be divided into three classes—yeasts, molds and bacteria. Yeasts are easily killed, so they can be left out of consideration in canning vegetables. As a general rule, molds are likely to attack jellies and preserves. The spore of vegetable is due primarily to bacteria. Bacteria are also much more resistant to heat than yeasts. They thrive in products like milk and in meats and vegetables rich in protein, such as peas, beans, etc. Keeping these products at boiling temperature for about one hour, upon two or three successive days, will kill all bacteria, even the seed forms, which are difficult to destroy.

A woman who goes in for farming cannot work in ordinary clothes. Garments which are comfortable and will not hamper her movements should be worn, and probably the simplest and best of all is the trouserette model. The one I have designed for today is taken from the boy's overall, which is easy to get into and easy to wear. The trousers, though straight and plain, are slightly gathered into a band at the bottom, which, with the fullness at the waistline gathered into a band, lends a feminine touch to the garment. Other feminine touches—which are not necessary, but nevertheless attractively decorative—are the colored striped or embroidered vegetable clusters on the pockets and front bib portion.

Civil War Monument.

A MONUMENT was erected several years ago on the Crubaugh Farm in Columbiana County, O., which marks the farthest northern point reached by the Confederate forces during the Civil War. It also marks the spot where Gen. John H. Morgan, the famous Southern leader, surrendered. For many years an old locust tree marked the place of surrender, but the tree died a few years ago, and after it had been cut down the stump was taken to East Liverpool, for safekeeping in the public library.

It was the idea of the late W. L. Thompson, the song writer, who lived near the scene of the fight, to erect a monument to mark the spot. He had a fund well started when he suddenly died, but his friend took up the work and carried it through. A brick and tile building was put in place and upon this is a bronze tablet bearing the inscription: "This stone marks the spot where the Confederate leader, Gen. John H. Morgan, surrendered his command to Maj. George W. Rice, July 26, 1861, and is the farthest point north ever reached by any body of Confederate troops during the Civil War."

Vacation Beauty Hints

By Pauline Furlong.

THE simplest foods are always the cheapest and most nourishing. Raw foods—salads, fruits and greens—are easy to prepare during the hot weather, and contain all of the nutriment necessary for the upkeep of the body. Eat slowly, sparingly and avoid fried foods, fats, starches, puddings, condiments; alcohol, tea and coffee as much as possible. Fresh, succulent green vegetables and fruits, salads, abundance of water, buttermilk and fruit juices should make up the summer menu. Two meals a day are all that are necessary for anyone in normal health. Those trying to gain weight should drink much milk or raw eggs and milk at noon and the stout woman may eat stewed or raw fruit at luncheon time if she really feels the need for it.

Cereals may be eaten in moderation at all seasons of the year by those who have become accustomed to them, but the diet of fruits and green things is an absolute essential to health. To help keep cool, keep calm, quiet and silent, because the habit of continuous talking uses up more nervous energy than most persons think. Remember that the foods eaten in the summer have more to do with the temperature of the body than anything else. When a little time is given to the selection of those which are naturally cooling and nourishing and which at the same time are not heating, much more bodily comfort will be enjoyed and many common complaints avoided as well.

Tomorrow I shall tell something about hot weather clothing and baths.

How I Helped My HUSBAND

Preserves Send the Boy to College

MY husband and I had sat until late the night before talking over our financial affairs. We lived in a small suburban town within commuting distance of New York. He was a clerk in a broker's office in the financial district, but his salary was only $1300 a year, which is less than $25 a week. When the children were little we got along pretty well, but year before last I determined to send my oldest boy to college. This was what we had been talking about, for my husband he found a very encouraging list of orders waiting for him. It was hard work, but I enjoyed it, for I was carrying out my ambition. After buying cans, sugar, etc., I calculated to make a profit of $150 a dozen on small jars of fruit and from $25 to $30 on a dozen of the quart cans of fruit. On jams and jellies my profit was less, but I more than made up for it on pickles, which were very profitable. I did well that summer and the boy went to college as I intended, but I had worked up so fine a business that I did not like to drop it, so I make a good deal of money every season.

Things for the Nursery

AMONG the pretty things provided for the baby this summer is a playground, which may be used in the house or on the porch at will. It is a square affair, all fenced in with a white enameled wooden fence, with a neat little gate in one side. The fence was made with a thick, soft, quilted arrangement which is exactly like the floor covering.

This is made of cotton, tufted and interlined, of course, with something soft like cotton wadding, and with a cream-colored groundwork upon which is scattered an allover pattern of little birds, a mother goose's friends, Little Bo Peep, Jack Horner and all the rest, with a whole menagerie of most friendly animals. Seated upon this quilt, and surrounded by more of it on all sides, the baby may spend many hours well entertained.

A white-enameled high chair is cushioned with the same interesting material and so is a neat white crib. For older children, a portable summer house is provided. This consists of a framework, painted green, covered over with wire screening. It looks somewhat like a tent, or a tiny house, and it has a screen door as an entrance.

Within are a small chair and a table, also painted green, and room enough for several children to play or read or paint or draw or sew at their ease. The beauty of it is that it may be moved about wherever one wants it, with little trouble, not being tied down as is a tent.

Name Printed on Your Cigars

NAMES of cigars can be printed direct on the tobacco leaf by a machine of late invention, not yet placed on the market. The freshly rolled cigars are fed into the machine at one end and conveyed side by side on a belt to the printing stamp at the end of an arm that is operated by a hand crank or may be run by a motor. The name is printed lengthwise on the cigar in ink, without injuring the wrapper. The machine is designed to replace the perforating devices now in use for the same purpose. It will brand 25,000 cigars a day.

SHERMS DOTS

By Clifford Leon Sherman.

DEAR Folks: This is our fourth day out, and the most excitement we have had was when we sighted the destroyers who came out to act as a convoy, to see that we got safely by the subs and the mines. It begins to look like real business, but we all believe we ought to do all we can to get this sorry job finished. I am feeling fine, and everybody on the transport feels the same. They are a dandy bunch. And by the way, I have discovered why a frog can jump so far. We have been taking an exercise every morning, that makes me feel like a human frog. It is something like this:

Testing the Arms

THE brachimeter (don't be frightened at the name) is an instrument which has been devised by Prof. H. Franklin Jones of the University of South Dakota to determine whether an individual is naturally right or left handed. Every person is born with a major and a minor arm, and Prof. Jones, through study of this fact, has discovered things about the man who is jack of all trades and master of none.

To determine "handedness" he measures the bones of the arm with his brachimeter. If you were born with a left major arm adopted the right, the fact will be shown by measurement of the relaxed forearm circumference, contracted forearm, relaxed biceps and contracted biceps. To become master of your trade you must use your major arm.

LEMONS BEAUTIFY ALSO WHITEN SKIN

Girls! Make this lotion for little cost and massage face, neck, arms and hands.

Here is told how to prepare an inexpensive lemon lotion which will bring back to any skin the sweet freshness of which it has been robbed by trying atmospheric conditions. Wind-chafe, roughness, tan and redness are washed off and the tell-tale lines of care or of age are softened away.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart of the most remarkable lemon skin bleach and beautifier at about the cost of the ordinary cold cream. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. It really will bleach and remove such blemishes as pimples, blackheads, freckles and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoother and beautifier which absorbs readily and is not sticky or greasy.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this harmless lemon lotion and apply it daily to the face, neck, arms and hands, and see for yourself.—ADV.

President Wilson is in FAVOR OF CONTINUATION OF BASEBALL DURING WAR

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—President Wilson's opinion, expressed through his secretary, J. P. Tumulty, that there is "no necessity at all for stopping or curtailing baseball schedules," was read with enthusiasm today by heads of major league teams in Chicago.

"That's the best news I have received for a long time," said Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago American League club. "I think we baseball men are as patriotic as any other class of citizens. We stand behind the President all the time. If he should ask us to close our gates we would be closed without a murmur."

"But I believe we can do our country a genuine service by keeping its youth interested in healthy outdoor sports and recreation during our period of stress. Certainly it is better for our boys to be at the ball parks than at some places I might mention."

"President Wilson's opinion is a tribute to baseball, an immense help to us all," President Chicago Mayor William Hale said.

The President's announcement is a great relief for baseball and for the club owner, an grateful. I think the President showed the same broad-mindedness in this case as he has in every other big issue that has come before him. In the long run, the country will be better off for not discontinue the sport, although I believe every man connected with the game should do his bit one way or another."

The Post-Dispatch
Daily Short StoryMadelene's
Missing Million

By C. F. Fisher.

(Written Especially for the Post-Dispatch.)
(An up-to-date photo-play and just as plausible.)

"MUST get that million," snarled the Knotted First to his chief aid, Jimmy the Pipe. "The money is concealed in this house and today it must be in my possession. Now to gain admission to Madelene's apartment." A moment after ringing the bell the Knotted First answered. Madelene's call through the speaking tube with: "Come down quickly, there's a man dying in the hallway."

While she was hurrying down the Knotted First stretched himself on the floor, grasping at Jimmy the Pipe vigorously rubbed his head. "Tidy woman," pleaded Jimmy, as Madelene appeared, "help me to carry him to your room till we can get a doc." With a chorus of sympathy, Madelene took the Knotted First by the neck, and with Jimmy carrying his legs, they laboriously ascended the 16 flights of stairs to her apartment. "Put him on the couch while I fix something for him," and she hastened to the kitchen. "Just as I suspected," she breathed inaudibly, but distinctly to herself. "It is the Knotted First. I'll make it warm for him."

She hastily constructed a mustard plaster and, gently placing it on his chest, murmured, "This is what you want."

"No, you are what I want," exclaimed the Knotted First as he tried to grasp her, but she eluded him and sprang to the door.

To her dismay he had locked it on the outside!

He had accomplished this through a wonderful device just discovered, but not yet patented, which he had brought with him concealed under his scarf pin.

"You shall not have me. I'll die first," she screamed as both men pursued her around the room, jumping over chairs, crawling under tables and missing her by a hair's breadth with remarkable regularity. At last, seeing her chance, she dived head first through the open window!

Losing no time, inch by inch they dissected the apartment, cutting pictures from their frames, taking the upholstery from the furniture, even soaking photographs from their mounts and the postage stamps from letters in the search for the missing million that might be concealed under them.

"I know it was here in these rooms, but it is gone, so she must have taken it with her. We must search the body," the Knotted First went to the window and glanced down.

He uttered a cry of rage. Madelene had disappeared!

After going through the window she had fallen 14 stories, striking on a mass of telephone and telegraph wires and, rebounding, had turned a couple of graceful somersaults in the air. In this short time she had regained her customary coolness and composure, so that by timing her final somersault exactly she alighted feet first on the trolley wire in the middle of the street.

Balancing herself on the wire she ran toward the nearest support wires, intending to slide down the post to the ground. Her goal was still a couple of feet away when a crane on the big building being erected opposite her apartment swung rapidly toward her and before she could escape it the hook at the end of the long cable had caught in her belt and she was swinging upward through space till she hung 200 feet above the street.

To add to her horror she felt her dress begin to tear, at first slowly, then more and more rapidly till nothing held her except a button and that quickly began to loosen. She sighed as she thought of the ruin of her dress when the last strand gave way and she felt herself falling from that terrific height.

A chute had been constructed from the building, which was about a block from the river, to carry cars of dirt from the excavation to barges. At the moment of Madelene's fall a car had broken loose and was tearing down the grade. So it happened that Madelene suddenly found her direction changed and herself speeding toward the river, instead of the solid earth. There was a tinkle at the end of the chute, on striking which the cars would dump their loads into the barge below, but on this occasion no barge was there, so when the car tipped Madelene was shot into the air and a moment later the water closed over her.

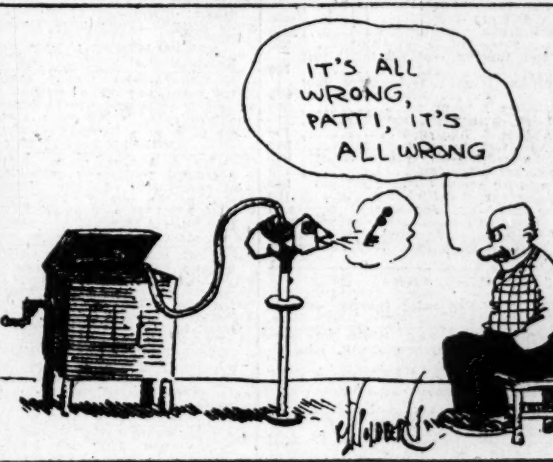

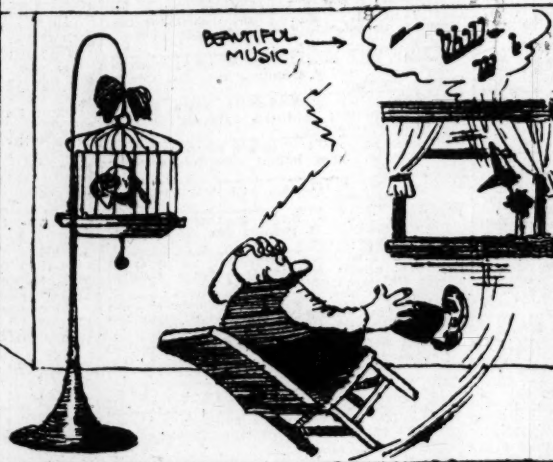

But that moment in the air was enough for Madelene to take a long breath. Her quick mind had instantly reasoned that as she did not know how long she would be under water it were well to be prepared for an indefinite stay.

Just as she thought she would never reach bottom, she suddenly felt a pair of strong arms clasp her and a voice called "Madelene!" She did not hear it, but the man at the air pump above heard it through the diver's telephone, and, taking it for a signal, began to hoist them up. The diver was Madelene's poor and almost unnoticed admirer, Dennis McGurk, who had long loved her, but dared not tell her because of the difference in their social position.

And now, 100 feet below the surface, she was in his arms! How he longed to press her ruby lips to his, but his diving helmet was too solidly made to allow of any osculation through it, and his curses addressed to it made the men above haul on the rope with feverish haste.

Realizing she was in the arms of a friend, Madelene had rested quietly, and, closing her eyes, had enjoyed the brief lull in her adventures, but on reaching the shore, her pulses leaped as she gazed through the helmet into the face of Dennis McGurk. She had met her fate at last, and although Dennis could scarcely read print, he easily read the look in her eyes. She gave him no time for action, however, as she exclaimed, "Help me! Let us hurry to my apartment and we may yet be in time."

Asking no explanation, so great was his love, Dennis, without taking time to

The Sandman Story for To-night

BY MRS. P. A. WALKER

Silly Wong's Robber

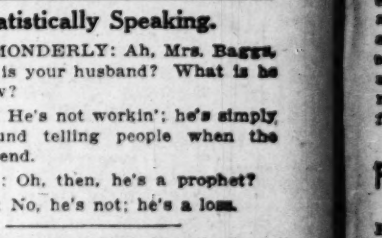

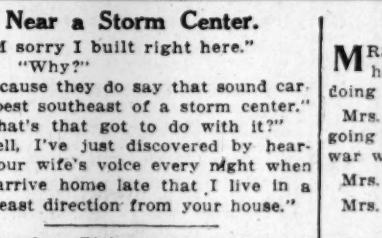

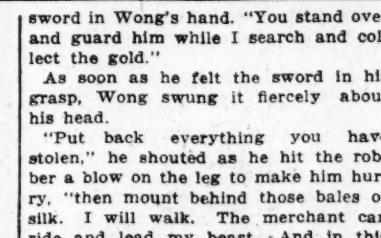

ONCE upon a time there lived in China a very poor couple with one child. This lad, whose name was Wong, was regarded as a very foolish boy. On one occasion he had gone with his father to stop all night at an inn, and when the man told Wong to put his bag of clothing in the closet, Wong, thinking the open window was meant, had dropped the bundle down into the street. Of course, it was never seen again.

After this poor Wong was always humiliated by people calling him foolish and saying that the couple would have him a burden on their hands forever. So Wong worried and worried, night and day, hoping for a chance to show that he was able to care for himself.

One evening a rich man who was passing stopped in front of the cottage to get some supper before continuing his journey. As he rose to go he asked if the father would be good enough to accompany him for about five miles until he got through a very dark and dangerous part of the road.

"I am willing to pay you well," said the wealthy merchant. "I have with me many bags of silk and boxes of gems. I fear some robber might attack me and get my treasures."

Now, it happened that the father was sick in bed with a sprained ankle. But Wong heard the conversation. "I will go with this gentleman," said the lad with a glad note in his voice.

"Trust me, I am not afraid of robbers." "You are too small," exclaimed the mother. "Why you cannot care for yourself. The idea of your protecting anyone from thieves!" But the merchant looked pleased. "Let the lad come along," he said. "It may be he has plans of which we know nothing. At any rate, his company will be something, and I will pay well for that. He can return in the morning."

After much talk and much wrapping up, Wong, clad in a blue gown, took his seat on the donkey behind the big bags of silk. The merchant rode by his side on another beast. The road grew narrower and steeper, but the moon came out brightly just as they got to the mouth of the high cliff over which ran the way.

As they were about to pass around a rock, out of its shadow jumped a robber. About his eyes was a handkerchief of yellow, and in his girdle was stuck a huge sword. Jerking out the sword, he hurled it about the heads of Wong and the merchant, ordering them to dismount. Both sprang to the ground.

"This merchant has a lot of gold concealed in his stockings," said Wong in a loud whisper to the robber. "If you will take these off you will find it. Let me hold your sword. I had intended to rob him myself, but since you got to it first we may divide the spoils."

"Sure," said the robber, placing the sword in Wong's hand. "You stand over and guard him while I search and collect the gold."

As soon as he felt the sword in his grasp, Wong swung it fiercely about his head.

"Put back everything you have stolen," he shouted as he hit the robber a blow on the leg to make him hurry. "I will walk. The merchant can ride and lead my beast. And in this fashion we will take you to the nearest town to be placed in jail for highway robbery."

The merchant was delighted at this and mounted on his animal, led the other down the road. The robber, by whose side walked Wong with the sword, dared not attempt to escape, but sat quietly till he was given over to an officer of the law.

"You are a brave as well as a clever lad," said the merchant, "so here is your pay. But I will return with you to ask your father's consent to give you a position as the head of my counting house."

So the lad known as Silly Wong became a wise and great Mandarin in China.

"I'M sorry I built right here." "Why?" "Because they do say that sound carries best southeast of a storm center."

"What's that got to do with it?" "Well, I've just discovered by hearing your wife's voice every night when you arrive home late that I live in a southeast direction from your house."
